Chinese Communist regular army troops have landed on Hainan Island and established a substantial beachhead on the southwest coast, Nationalist dispatches reported today.

The semi-official Sinsangpao (New Life) Daily in a dispatch from Hoihow, island capital, said the invaders hit the beaches between Kumyah (Kanem) and Kaotu after a 150-mile water trip from Weichao Island. Weichao is 40 miles west of Liuehow Peninsula where the main Red amphibious assault troops were reported concentrating.

GOP Lashes Truman on Spending

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republicans attacked President Truman last night as the greatest spender in history and said his legislative program, if enacted, will turn the U. S. into a socialized state.

They spoke in a nationwide program of speeches and interviews prepared for delivery over the ABC radio network.

Rep. Brown, Republican, Ohio, said the Truman Administration is spending $80,000 a minute and taking in only $70,000.

"Harry Truman is the top public spender of all time," he added. "He is now spending annually over $400,000,000."

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Democratic National Chairman Boyle has told President Truman Ohio Democrats "firmly believe" they can defeat Senate GOP Policy Leader Taft and hinted that the President might participate in the Buckeye campaign.

four times as much to run our Federal Government as Franklin Roosevelt ever spent in any peace-time year and FDR was no slouch of a spender himself."

Sen. Wherry, of Nebraska, the Republican Senate leader, said his party will fight to upset a forecast made by Lenin, then dictator of Russia, that the Communists some day would force the U. S. to spend itself to destruction.

Wherry added:

"Instead of increasing the tax burden, as President Truman proposes, to finance spendthrift Socialism, the sound, sensible course is to repeal business-blocking, wartime excise taxes, cut the cost of Government, and balance expenditures with revenue."

Speaking from Topeka, Gov. Carlson, of Kansas, said everyone realizes that price supports in some form must be used to keep prices from dropping too sharply. But so far, he said, he has found nothing but double talk in the farm plan of Agriculture Secretary Brannan.

Miss Louise Replogle, of Lewis-town, Mont., co-chairman of the Young Republican National Federation, interviewed A. A. McCoy, of Boulder, Colo.

McCoy, who served in the Navy Seabees during the war, said he bought into a tungsten mine a year ago but that imports of tungsten have knocked the props out of the American market. He said also that reports take up at least 10 percent of his stenographer's time, and that Federal and State tax officials take a "suspicious and snooping" attitude.

China National UN Delegate to Yield Seat To Cuba Today as Council Airs His Case

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(INS)—Reliable sources indicated yesterday that Nationalist China's delegate Tsiang Tsiang will yield the UN Security Council chairmanship temporarily today to Cuba.

Soviet Representative Jacob Malik staged a "walk out" Tuesday in protest against Tsiang's chairmanship and continued presence in the Security Council. But he is expected to be on hand this afternoon during consideration of Russia's motion that the Chinese Nationalist diplomat be excluded from the 11-nation body.

It is understood on reliable authority that Tsiang, who can use the veto and undoubtedly intends to hold fast to his UN post until the United States advises him that it is time to bow out, will vacate the chair during the Security Council's discussion on the Russian motion. Tsiang is chairman for January.

Under rule 20 of the 11-nation body, the chairman has the right to yield his chairmanship or keep it if a case is under discussion involving himself. Tsiang, however, will take a seat on behalf of China and exercise his voting privilege on the Russian motion. The latter reads:

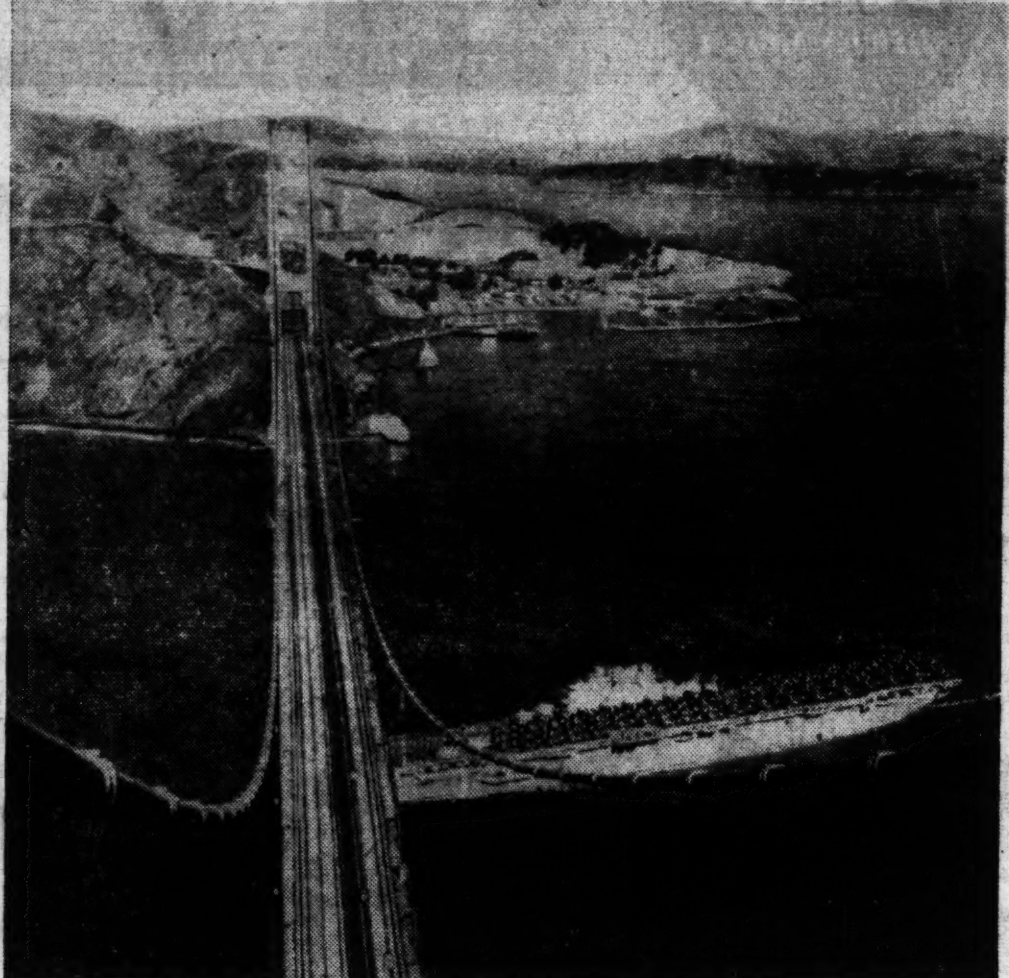

"The Security Council, having considered the statement made by the Central People's (Communist) Government of the Chinese People's Republic on 8 January 1950 to the effect that it considers the presence in the United Nations Security Council of the representative of the Kuomintang (Nationalist) Government to be illegal and insists on the exclusion of that representative from the Security Council.

"Decides not to recognize the credentials of the representative referred to in the statement by the Central People's Government of the Chinese People's Republic and to exclude him from the Security Council."

The expected vote will be as follows: In favor of the motion, Russia and Yugoslavia. Against, China. Abstentions: Great Britain, the U. S., France, Egypt, Norway, Ecuador, Cuba and India. A majority of seven is required to put the motion through.

LUCKY HE COULD COOK

Bachelor Sits 3 Days With 7 Children

OMAHA — (UP) — Charles Padgett, 35, a bachelor, came to plaster a ceiling and stayed three days to sit with seven kids.

That was the story Padgett told authorities yesterday after three days of diaper changing, cooking and "playing with the kids."

Padgett said he went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Durbin here last Saturday to do some repairs.

Mrs. Durbin left the house to "go downtown." She asked

Padgett to watch the seven children, ranging in age from 11 years to 10 months. She said she'd be right back.

Padgett said she didn't return.

"I finally put the kids to bed after I fixed dinner," he said. "I kept watching for the mother."

"The kids were swell," he said. "I even got used to diapers."

When juvenile authorities heard of the plasterer's plight, they came to the rescue.

The children were put in a home and Padgett went back to work as a plasterer. Located yesterday, he related the tale of his vigil.

"I've had a lot of experience baching it," said Padgett. "I was lucky I knew how to cook. No one complained."

Authorities said Mrs. Durbin still hadn't come home.

Her husband was reported en route here from Indianapolis, where he had been working on a construction job.

Grab Rain Togs, Showers Likely

Better take the raincoat along; looks like rain.

Cloudy and slightly cooler is forecast for today, with occasional rain.

Tomorrow will continue mostly cloudy, the man says, with showers and cooler temperatures in the late afternoon.

High reading today is scheduled to be 54.

The low early this morning was 48. Tomorrow, the man says, temperatures will start at 48 and climb to a warm high of 63 with an early morning low of 49.

Debt Reduced

CARROLLTON—With increased State assistance in the form of an extra $50,000 in equalization money and other advantages due to the new appropriation of taxes, the Carroll County Board of Education has been able to reduce its indebtedness from $73,921.46 last July to $30,814.13 at present, J. H. McGiboney, County School Superintendent, said yesterday.

Airing Set on Rezoning Area for Negro Housing

A proposal to rezone approximately 270 unused acres of city-owned Lakewood Park for construction of 2,000 low-rental Negro housing units will be aired at 2 p. m., Jan. 25, at a public meeting of the City Planning Commission in City Council Chamber.

On motion of Ellis B. Barrett, attorney representing white residents of the area, the Commission yesterday deferred a scheduled hearing so that all persons in the community may have an opportunity to be heard. The Atlanta Housing Authority proposes to erect the $16,000,000 project.

Barrett contended that sufficient notice had not been given for the hearing. Commissioners agreed.

Barrett first contended that the City Planning Commission was without authority to zone the tract since it lies in Fulton County outside the Atlanta City limits. He insisted that the City could zone it only for municipal purposes. Commissioners said they would consider that when they went into executive session to decide the issue, but when Barrett made his point concerning sufficient notice, he was sustained.

Approximately 200 persons crowded into the hearing. Francis Fife, attorney, raised the same point on the City's right to zone the property as did Barrett. He also asked if it was the intention to allow Negroes to occupy the apartments. F. Elton Drake, Commission Chairman, said the Commission had no authority to restrict occupancy, asserting "we do not zone for race or color." He emphasized that the only thing the Commission was asked to pass on was whether apartments would be allowed there.

MAY NEED PROOF

Taxpayers Told Beware of False Income Returns

Don't try to gyp your old Uncle Sam when you file that Federal income tax return.

In other words, count your dependents correctly and watch those deductions.

That warning comes from U. S. Income Tax Collector Marion Allen, who urges Georgians to spare themselves "future embarrassment, expense, and possible serious penalties" by figuring fair and square.

It's not legal or right for a small percentage of individual taxpayers to have a free ride at the expense of those who make honest and accurate Federal income tax returns," Allen declared.

He suggests that Georgians be "minutely careful and meticulously accurate in claiming dependents and deducting sums for travel, medical expenses, entertainment and contributions."

Taxpayers who are not able to offer documentary or other adequate proof for such claims may be in trouble before the next March 15, Allen hinted.

Wine Tax Increase Upheld By State Supreme Court In Five-to-Two Decision

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Constitutionality of Georgia's new increase in the wine tax today had been upheld by the State Supreme Court.

The 5-to-2 decision, reached late yesterday, held that:

1. The Supreme Court cannot go behind the enrolled copy of a bill to see if a portion of the title was composed and inserted by some method or agency in an irregular manner. Neither the legislative journals nor photostatic copies of the bill are permissible to impeach the enrolled act as signed by the Senate President, Senate Secretary, House Speaker and House Clerk.

2. Although "malt beverage" and "wines" have been previously licensed and taxed under separate acts, an increase in excise taxes on malt beverages and "wines" may be accomplished in one later act amending the previous separate acts, without offending Constitutional provisions which provide "no law shall pass which refers to more than one subject matter."

3. A law imposing a license tax on wine made from Georgia berries and fruits at a substantially lower rate than imported wine, or wine manufactured in Georgia from imported raw materials, does not violate the United States Constitution as to due process or equal protection of the 14th Amendment, or burden inter-state commerce because the 21st Amendment renders other provisions inoperative. No equal protection is granted alcoholic beverages under the 21st Amendment.

Justice T. Grady Head, former State Revenue Commissioner, and Justice Lee Wyatt dissented. They based their dissent on the grounds that the 1949 bill dealt with more than one subject matter.

Chief Justice W. H. Duckworth and Justice Bond Almond affirmed the decision with special comments. Both declared they felt the Court should go behind the enrolled copy of bills. They favored reversal of previous unanimous decisions of the Supreme Court, but said they couldn't get sufficient support to do so.

Justice Tom Candler wrote the majority opinion, which was concurred in totally by Justices W. Y. Atkinson and Harold Hawkins.

The Supreme Court's action upholds the Layette County Superior Court in a suit of the Capitol Distributing Company and most of the wine companies in Georgia against State Revenue Commissioner Charles Reaves.

The Legislature in its August special session virtually doubled the tax on imported wine. It fixed the tax at $1 a gallon on imported light wines and 10 cents a gallon on Georgia light wines. It fixed the tax at $2 a gallon on all fortified wines.

Since the court suit was filed, a total of more than $70,000 in taxes collected under the increased rates have been held in escrow.

Quake Rocks Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES — (INS) — A sharp earthquake, described as the "heaviest in years," rocked the Los Angeles area from the mountains to the sea yesterday.

Seismologists clocked the jarring earthquake at 12:41 p. m. (PST).

There was no damage reported in the scores of cities which reeled under the quake. Thousands of alarmed residents, shoppers and office workers streamed to the streets.

Epicer of the quake was reported in the Alhambra area, a few miles east of Los Angeles.

City Parking Meters Are Step Nearer As Police Committee Asks Report

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Parking meters for downtown Atlanta are a step closer today.

City Council's Police Committee has requested Traffic Engineer Karl Bevin to file extensive recommendations at the Jan. 25 Committee session, and Bevin said he would be read.

For months, Administration leaders have eyed proceeds of parking meters as a source of revenue for financing traffic improvements.

Bevin was told last night that the responsibility for recommending, places at which they will be installed will rest upon him, and he indicated he may recommend installation of meters for most of the 2,000 parking spaces in the central business district.

Although no decision as to the cost was made, discussions pointed to five cents, per hour parking time.

Committeemen at last night's session also decided to strike a certificate of service for the 64 members of the Civilian Defense Auxiliary Police Force, which served with distinction during the war.

George Ellington, Chief of the old enforcement arm, pleaded that the Committee permit members to retain their police badges as mementos of their service, but Committee members took the position that the badges are insignia of regular policemen and that some of them might be lost or stolen and used improperly.

Ald. Ed A. Gilliam, Police Committee Chairman, insisted that

2 Bandits With Girl Pals Sought in Cafe Holdup

By KEELER McCARTNEY

Two white bandits, accompanied by girls, were sought today for robbery of the Little Casino Restaurant in Gwinnett County, and in Atlanta police were looking for a quartet of knife-wielding Negroes which looted a service station at 79 Ashby St., S. W.

Armed with small caliber, snub-nosed revolvers, the two white men entered the Little Casino Restaurant on Highway 78 near the DeKalb-Gwinnett County line shortly after dinner, Gwinnett Sheriff T. J. Johnson said.

Menacing the manager, T. H. Townsend, they scooped up around $80 in small bills and change from the cash register. Then they raced outside, where two girl companions were waiting in a late model blue sedan and raced away toward Atlanta.

Atlanta, DeKalb, Fulton and State patrolmen were alerted for the bandit auto.

One of the gunmen was described as five feet eight inches tall and wearing a green shirt while his companion was six feet tall. Sheriff Johnson said the two were not believed to be the "silk stocking" robbers who have terrorized the Atlanta area for two months.

However, Atlanta detectives said the description was the same.

In the service station robbery, V. R. Garner, owner of the Mason-Turner station at 97 Ashby St., S. W., said four Negroes walked inside and asked for a drink of water. One of them suddenly produced a knife. Garner related, while others took $34 from the cash register and $11 from his wallet.

Two Negroes—Willie Guillett, of 34 Talliaferro St., and James Dessau, of 927 DeSoto St., N. W.—were in the service station when the robbery occurred. Ptl. R. J. Walker and R. J. Skinner said.

Silk stocking bandits last struck in Atlanta Tuesday night at a West End grocery store. The pair previously raided stores in Clayton County and East Point as well as over Atlanta.

Freight Hike Hearing Draws Shippers' Protest

The Georgia Public Service Commission has under consideration today a freight rate increase which eight major railroads say will mean a total of $1,123,987 in vitally-needed new money—but which Georgia shippers contend will cause freight to move by trucks rather than by trains.

In an all-day hearing at the State Capitol yesterday, the Commission heard Leon Williams, Director of the State Ports Authority, urge that cotton, peanuts and basic crops be exempted from any such freight rate increase. The proposed increase would hamper development of Georgia's ports, he said, since the Authority plans to receive freight shipments and store them for outgoing vessels.

Spokesmen for railroads pleaded for a 10 percent rate increase on intra-state shipments, to bring them in line with the recently increased rates on interstate freight granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In a surprise move at yesterday's hearing, the railroads presented a representative of Pennsylvania Cement Company to state this company had no objections to increasing the freight rates. On cross-examination, the company, which has a plant near Macon, admitted its freight rates are paid by consumers.

Sam Flint, rate expert for the commission, pointed out that one railroad's revenue in October, 1949, was $200,000 below that of October, 1948, despite the 10 percent increase granted by the ICC on interstate shipments. He contended a rate increase would drive off business. The railroad answered, however, that general business conditions were that month. Others said their annual revenue increased last year because of the interstate increase granted by the ICC.

Opposing the increases were: E. A. Hart, of Atlanta's Freight Bureau; T. M. Hines, of the Oconee Clay Products Company, of Milledgeville; George A. Doss, of the Georgia Marble Company at Canton; H. C. Blair, of Atlantic Steel Company, Atlanta; V. L. Turner, of Birmingham, representing several lumber mills in Georgia; L. R. Steinbach, of Dayton, Ohio; J. D. Patterson, of New York, representing the Union Bag and Paper Company; J. F. Moore, of Savannah, an Arthur Evans, of the Savannah Sugar Refining Company.

Railroad officials testifying in favor of the increase were: H. M. Croghan and M. P. Haynes, of the Central of Georgia; Carl W. Dilli and Frank Luckett, of the Southern; J. H. Chapman, of the Georgia Railroad C. L. Hinnant and E. A. Anderson, of the Atlantic Coast Line; Z. B. Harrell and G. L. Parsons, of the Seaboard Air Line; Carl Basham, of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, and A. D. Moore, of the Atlanta West Point Railroad.

Petition Indicates Election On DeKalb Government

By GORDON SAWYER

A strong possibility DeKalb County will go to the polls to see whether citizens want to retain their one-commissioner form of government or change to a five-commissioner-county-manager type was indicated today.

The DeKalb County Civic Committee announced at an open meeting in Decatur last night they had 7,333 names on a petition asking a referendum on the issue. Members of the DeKalb delegation to the General Assembly have indicated they would introduce legislation asking for the vote if 8,600 registered voters sign the petition.

"We're going to go full steam ahead," James A. Mackay, of the Committee told the 70 listeners, "and expect to have 8,600 by Saturday. We're not going to stop

Miners To Return Monday After Lewis 'Suggestion'

PITTSBURGH—(UP)—John L. Lewis faced with a double-barreled threat of Government action—has "suggested" to 81,200 striking United Mine Workers that they return to work Monday.

A spot check of the coal fields indicated the miners would comply with the "suggestion" the mine chief sent all UMW district presidents in a terse, one-sentence telegram.

"Will you please transmit to our members who are idle this week my suggestion that they resume production next Monday," Lewis said.

His action, however, did not affect the three-day work week designed to keep down coal stockpiles and strengthen the union's hand in bargaining conferences.

The "suggestion" was made as six Republican Senators proposed that Congress tell President Truman officially that the coal "strike" is a national emergency which calls for use of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The other legal weapon pointed at the mine chief was the threat of an injunction by the National Labor Relations Board. NLRB General Counsel Robert Denham said he would decide by Friday whether to seek a court order to outlaw Lewis' three-day work-week order in the coal fields.

The hit-and-miss strikes closed selected mines in nine States and cost the nation 1,370,000 tons of coal the first three days of this week.

The short work week and the spontaneous strikes cut production to about 40 percent of normal.

Yesterday was the first time Lewis and other UMW officials took official notice of this week's "mystery" strikes. Last week, 15,000 Illinois miners went on strike but returned to work on union orders. This week, the miners selected pits in a crazy-quilt pattern that included most big operations and mines operated by steel companies.

The Senate action came as the nation's coal stockpile reached a dangerous low and at least one steel producer, Youngstown (Ohio) Sheet & Tube Company, reported it would be forced to cut back blast furnace production beginning next week.

The six GOP Senators, Robert A. Taft, Ohio; Homer Ferguson, Michigan; Alexander Wiley, Wisconsin; Forrest C. Donnell, Missouri; William E. Jenner, Indiana; and Edward Martin, Pennsylvania, introduced a resolution for both houses.

Lewis imposed the short week when major producers turned down his demands for a 95-cent daily wage increase and an increase in 15 cents in the 20-cent-per-ton royalty payments to the Union's Welfare and Pension Fund.

Flog Retrieval Slated Feb. 13 In Dade Court

Dade County Sheriff John W. Lynch, three deputies, and six other persons will be retried Feb. 13 in United States District Court in Rome on Federal civil rights charges growing out of the April 2, 1949, flogging of seven Negroes in Dade County.

First mass trial of the 10 men resulted in a mistrial Dec. 17 in the Rome court. United States District Judge Frank Hooper declared a mistrial after a jury, following 48 hours' deliberation, reported it was "hopelessly deadlocked."

United States Atty. J. Ellis Mundy, announcing date of the new trial, issued the following statement:

"All new and further efforts to inject politics and collateral issues into the trial of Sheriff Lynch, his three deputies, two officials of the Ku Klux Klan, and four other individuals will continuously be ignored by me and, I am sure, will again be rejected by the Court.

"Retrial of the case will again involve only the issue of whether these officers, using the color of their office, conspired with and acted in concert with the Klan to deprive others of their rights of due process of law. . . . At the last trial, seven of the 12 jurors stood for conviction."

The price of cigarettes in Georgia would be cut by at least two cents a package if the Legislature repeals a law it passed last year fixing a minimum price for cigarettes.

MACON MAN ON BOARD
Dr. Walter L. Bell, Sr., of Macon, has been appointed by Gov. Talmadge as a member of the Georgia Board of Examiners in Optometry. He replaces Dr. A. Scott Gibson, of Thomas. Dr. Bell is a former President of the Board.

The price went up at least two cents when the bill was passed, and the increase went to the dealers. Then the Legislature in special session last Summer added another two-cent special tax increase to help finance expanded services.

Rep. W. L. Abney, of Walker County, will introduce in the General Assembly next week a bill to repeal the minimum price law he termed the "Unfair Cigarette Sales Act" of 1949. He predicts 90 percent of the legislators will support his bill.

"If we repeal the 'Unfair Cigarette Sales Act' the consumer won't feel the newly imposed two-cent tax increase," Abney said. The cigarette sales act has caused a loss of revenue to the State, particularly in Abney's section near Tennessee border, he said. It has increased the mail order bootlegging of cigarettes into Georgia to dodge the mark-ups by wholesalers and retailers. Abney said persons in his section are buying cigarettes in Tennessee at 18 cents a package, while the Georgia prices range from 22 to 25 cents a package.

Gov. Talmadge Plans To Attend Raleigh Rally

Governor Talmadge has tentatively accepted an invitation to the South Democratic Party rally in Raleigh, Jan. 28.

Gov. Talmadge wired his acceptance to Jonathan Daniels, National Party Committeeman from North Carolina. However, he said: "I shall not be present at the meeting if the Georgia General Assembly has important legislation before it which will require my presence here. Otherwise I will attend."

Talmadge said he did not know why the Raleigh conference was called, but indicated if Civil Rights legislation is discussed, he will "oppose it with every ounce of strength in my body."

Solons To Study Foundation Plan

The problem of financing the Minimum Foundation Program for education in Georgia will be studied by the House Ways and Means Committee next Monday on the opening day of the General Assembly.

An appointment has been granted by the Committee to Earl Norman, of Washington, Ga., Chairman of a recently organized Georgia Citizens Committee on Education.

This Committee, composed of 73 prominent laymen from all over the State is seeking to get the Legislature to finance the Minimum Foundation Program at this session instead of waiting until next year.

Crash Victim Recovering

A Georgia Tech student is reported recovering at Crawford W. Long Hospital from head injuries suffered when struck by an auto, while two other wreck victims were listed in "good condition" at Emory University Hospital.

The student, Leonidas S. Thompson, Jr., 20, of Macon, was injured as he crossed an alleyway near the Tech Infirmary. Sgt. Ralph Hulsey and Ptl. H. G. Tuggle said Thompson walked into a car driven by Ellis Barlow Keener, a student from St. Petersburg, Fla.

Harry Green, 18, and his sister, Victoria, of 807 Lullwater Rd., N. E., were injured when the car in which they were riding went out of control on the Marietta Highway, struck a utility pole and plunged down an embankment. They were admitted to Emory.

Registration Said Big Issue In Assembly

By DON A. SCHANCHE
International News Service Staff Writer
Possible repeal, or at least amendment of Georgia's voters' registration law looms today as a major issue facing the General Assembly when it convenes next week.

Up to this week, action on the measure seemed only a slight possibility at best, but statements from several anti-Talmadge leaders now have led many observers to believe that an attempt at repeal will be made.

Speaking from his home in Brunswick, Charles L. Gowen, outspoken Talmadge foe in the House, said he will favor repeal of the law. Gowen said he opposed the legislation in the last session and is still against it.

Gowen does not favor repeal of the law unless new registrations are protected.

Talmadge forces, meanwhile, are urging an amendment to the registration law which would allow justices of the peace to act as registrars in the outlying districts of Georgia counties.

This amendment, it passed, would speed up registration of farm votes, thus increasing Talmadge strength in State registration lists.

Rep. Hugh McWhorter, of De Kalb County, said that he will fight any move to allow justices of the peace to act as registrars. McWhorter said he believes many other legislators will go along with him on the question.

Klan Unmask Bill To Face Legislators

Chances for the passage of legislation to unmask the Ku Klux Klan appear to have gained strength in Georgia with the disclosure that such a bill will be introduced at next week's session of the General Assembly by a Talmadge leader.

Rep. Frank Twitty, of Camilla, floor leader in the House, said he would introduce such a measure when the Legislature convenes Monday.

Several other administration leaders are reported to be in favor of such legislation.

Last year a similar bill, introduced by John Greer, of Lanier County, an anti-administration leader, was virtually killed by an 89 to 65 vote to indefinitely postpone action on the measure.

Greer said he would be happy to have the administration support such a bill.

The proposed legislation is patterned after anti-masking ordinances adopted in several cities, and is carefully drawn so as not to interfere with Halloween, Santa Claus and other play masks worn by children.

It has been pushed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce throughout the State.

Hapeville Tank To Add Water

Erection of a new 500,000-gallon water storage tank is under way in Hapeville. It will cost about $90,000.

Jim Gillespie, City Engineer, said the tank, in the City park, will supplement the 100,000-gallon tank now in operation.

Officials of the R. D. Cole Manufacturing Company, of Newnan, contractors for the tank job, said work is expected to be completed in May.

20,000 Vets Enrolled In State Farm Plan

More than 20,000 Veterans of World War II are now enrolled in the Veterans' Farm Training Program in Georgia, Dr. M. D. Mobley, State Director of Vocational Education, announced.

Dr. Mobley said the program means $29,000,000 annually to the State in monies paid by the Federal Government for tuition, subsistence and textbooks for the veterans.

could slow up.

First class conducted under the program was organized Feb. 25, 1948, Dr. Mobley says. Today there are 984 classes in high schools of all but four counties of the State.

The program has reached 30,000 veterans since it was launched in Georgia. More than 9,000 veterans have finished training and are pursuing farm work. The majority used their subsistence payments to get them started, Dr. Mobley said.

More than 3,000 veterans purchased farms while in training. A total of 4,614 already owned farms. The trainees have purchased 5,713 tractors or more than half as many as were in Georgia in 1940.

The trainees have built 1,954 homes, most of them doing the work themselves. They have erected 10,668 new farm buildings, painted 3,434 homes, landscaped 3,740 farms and established 7,157 orchards.

They have developed 130,341 acres of pastures, terraced 136,234 acres and repaired or built 334,000 farm implements.

Since entering training the veterans have secured 28,856 milk cows, 32,141 beef cattle, 32,867 breeding hogs and 152,260 feeder hogs.

They have sold 10,636,000 broilers and preserved 6,000,052 pints of food.

They have adopted more than 7,000 soil conservation plans, helping check the waste of Georgia soil.

The farm training classes are held in regular high schools under the Vocational Agriculture program and T. G. Walters, State Supervisor of Agricultural Education, heads the program.

Veterans who haven't enrolled have until July 25, 1951 to do so. The program is expected to continue into 1955.

Camilla Wins Home Town Contest With Hard Work, City-Wide Co-operation

By CARLTON THOMAS
Constitution Staff Writer

CAMILLA—Folks in Camilla are wearing broad smiles today. They have carried out a year-old boast.

One year ago almost to the day, they accepted second place in the Georgia Power Company's community improvement contest. They were in the more than 1,000 persons division. At a banquet for the 1948 winners Mrs. T. B. Twitty, Jr., Chairman of the Camilla Contest Committee, calmly announced they would "be first" next year.

At a victory banquet Tuesday night Mrs. Twitty, who is local chairman again this year, accepted the $1,000 check and plaque which proclaimed them the 1949 champs. "We made good our boast," she said.

"We want to thank the Georgia Power Company for making our small communities in Georgia realize what they can do. The contest has shown us that we can take little money and a lot of effort and do anything we wish. Help from any outside agency, Federal Government or otherwise, is not necessary," she said.

Mrs. Twitty said the town used two words to win—"our" and "co-operation."

"It has always been our town, our people, our children and our projects. It has never been 'my anything.' Co-operation was and is the keynote. Everyone worked. The civic organization, City Government officials, schools and every person, including our Negro population, who had a major part in helping us win, worked, she declared.

The fun-loving Camilla citizens had their fun at the expense of the visiting Power Company officials. Last year they presented each of the visitors with a dress shirt. This time without a trace of a smile, they announced they again wanted to present a shirt to the visitors. There would be only one "slight change." Then to demonstrate one of the local citizens said he was wearing one and would display it. He removed his coat revealing a creamy white dress shirt and across the back in great block letters of blazing green, was the legend "Camilla, champion home town of Georgia, 1949."

Each of the visitors was handed a box containing a shirt and each was asked to go to a dressing room

PADLOCK FOR 46 ARGENTINE PAPERS

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—An Argentine Congressional Committee ordered 46 newspapers to close Tuesday because they didn't print a tribute to Gen. San Martin, the national hero.

A recent law requires that all newspapers in the country print the phrase "year of the Liberator General, San Martin" on their masthead throughout 1950, the 100th anniversary of the General's death.

Jose Emilio Visca told a news conference the papers may remain padlocked until Congress meets May 1.

Several of the papers are supporters of Pres. Juan D. Peron. Also closed was the Communist daily La Hora and weekly Orientacion.

to put on the shirt "for the photographers."

Uneasy and slightly embarrassed Power Company representatives did so. However, the shirts were sports shirts and only on the pocket flap was the legend proclaiming Camilla a winner. Along with each shirt went an "extra pocket flap" to replace the "advertising one" if the holder so desired.

However the men were jokingly warned. If you come into Camilla, better wear the sport shirt with the advertising.

Visiting ladies were presented with a corsage of Georgia Camellias grown in Camilla.

Pumpkin Safe Hiding Place —Hiss Expert

NEW YORK—(INS)—Dr. Carl Binger, psychiatrist and a star defense witness at the second perjury trial of Alger Hiss, conceded yesterday that Whittaker Chambers used a good hiding place when he secreted microfilms in a pumpkin on his farm in Maryland.

Dr. Binger has been contending that Chambers was guilty of all kinds of "bizarre behavior" and was definitely a "psychopathic personality" and a "pathological liar."

Thomas F. Murphy, prosecutor, reminded Dr. Binger that when Benedict Arnold sold out West Point, Maj. Andre, the British officer, secreted papers in his boot. Binger agreed that this action was not "bizarre."

"You remember the mother of Moses hid her child in the bullrushes," Murphy went on. "Was that bizarre?"

"She could hardly put him in a safe deposit," replied Dr. Binger, and a titter swept the courtroom. The microfilms Chambers secreted in the pumpkin were facsimiles of confidential Government documents which Chambers alleges Hiss passed to him in 1937 and 1938 for transmission to a Communist spy ring.

TAXPAYER SENDS U. S. EYE TEETH

CHICAGO—(AP)—The income tax collector opened a letter from a taxpayer yesterday. Out dropped two eye-teeth—or at least X-ray pictures of them.

"Someone is making a joke," mused John T. Jarecki, Internal Revenue Collector.

But he found a check in the letter, too. A telephone call showed that the taxpayer, a dentist, sent the X-ray films instead of his income tax return.

The dentist said it was an accident and he didn't mean to poke fun.

Baltimore To Burn Schools' Red Books

BALTIMORE—(AP)—The city's Department of Education announced yesterday it has directed high school principals to burn Russian publications addressed to school libraries.

The Allegany County Superintendent of schools has taken similar action.

In Frederick County, Sup. Eugene W. Pruitt several weeks ago said he had decided against such measures.

"Any attempt to suppress such material only has the opposite effect," he declared. "It lends a certain dignity to the material and causes a lot of people to read it who would otherwise never pay any attention."

Jet Bomber In Production: 4,000-Mile Range

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The Ari Force has put in production a new version of its B-47 jet bomber that flies at better than 800 miles an hour at about twice the range of early models, it was learned yesterday.

A fair estimate is that the new plane can fly more than 4,000 miles, making it the fastest, longest-legged jet bomber anywhere.

It would have within its bomb-sights many prized targets which once were out of reach of jet-powered craft. In the view of many experts in and out of the Air Force, shooting down a stratojet crowding close to the speed of sound would be a forbidding assignment for today's defensive weapons.

Livestock Sale

CARROLLTON—Total sales at last week's Carroll County livestock auction amounted to $16,023.88, with 236 head of cattle and 134 hogs going through the ring.

Flying Arrow Drops Trip To Shanghai

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Isbrandtsen Company, Inc., said last night it is abandoning its efforts to get its ship, the Flying Arrow, into Nationalist-patrolled Shanghai.

The company said in a statement that the ship has been ordered to Tsingtao, which it called the nearest safe port.

Tsingtao also is Communist-held. However, the company said it did not anticipate any opposition by the Nationalist government to the Flying Arrow's docking there.

"Anyway, in the condition the ship is in, we cannot consider sending her any farther than Tsingtao."

The Flying Arrow was heavily shelled Monday as it tried to make its way into Shanghai against the objections of the Nationalist government.

In Washington, the Navy said orders to two U. S. destroyers to stand by the Flying Arrow had been withdrawn, and that the ships were directed to leave the Yangtze estuary. The destroyers had helped the Flying Arrow make repairs.

Another Isbrandtsen ship, the Brooklyn Heights, is scheduled to sail from Hong Kong Saturday for Shanghai.

"There is no change in her disposition," Isbrandtsen said. "She still is loading and every day brings something new. We take it as we find it."

Ratterrees Made Stork Draw on Its Reserves

Chalk up another win for the stork. George Leonard Ratterree, of Sizemore Road, and his neighbor, Clifford Van Cott, gave the long-legged bird a good race, but they were two blocks from the hospital when Mrs. Ratterree called from the back seat of the car that they might as well slow up.

"No use hurrying now," Mrs. Ratterree said quietly. "The baby's here."

The seven-pound Ratterree son, as yet unnamed, was born some- where between the city jail and the hospital. Mrs. Ratterree isn't sure of the exact spot and she very much doubts that her husband and Neighbor Van Cott would know.

"I never saw a scarer pair," the mother grinned weakly from her hospital bed. "When they saw the baby had come I thought they were going to faint."

The new baby, a lusty infant with a shock of brown hair, is the Ratterrees' sixth child. The father, onetime paper company employee, is at present unemployed.

THE HOUSE, THE SECRETARY AND CHINA—Secretary of State Acheson, center, went down to the Capitol yesterday to explain the Administration's China policy to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Prior to the closed hearing, he had a look at the geography problem with Rep. John Kee, Democrat, West Virginia, left, Committee Chairman, and Rep. Charles A. Eaton, Republican, New Jersey, ranking GOP member.

U. S. Repeats Stand Against Deal With Reds

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States yesterday reaffirmed its stand against any direct deal with Russia to settle the major problems of peace and war.

In a statement prompted by reports which have been printed in Germany, a State Department spokesman declared that this Government is "ready and eager to discuss all these problems with the Russians" in any "appropriate forum."

Press Officer Michael J. McDermott, the spokesman, added that "we are not going to sit down with the Russians and attempt to impose bilateral solutions to problems affecting other countries."

McDermott said that there have been no feelers from Russia. His remarks were called forth, he said, by a German story "which I want to knock down."

Madame Chiang Late in Hawaii

HONOLULU — (UP) — Madame Chiang Kai-shek, flying to Formosa to join her husband and his Nationalist forces in their last-itch fight against the Communists in China, landed here yesterday in a heavy rainstorm that forced the pilot to make an instrument landing.

The Pan American Clipper carrying Madame Chiang was 40 minutes late on its flight from San Francisco because of the storm, a heavy overcast and the presence of other planes in the area.

Gale Batters U. S. Freighter

HONOLULU — (UP) — The Hawaiian Sea Frontier said yesterday an American freighter, the Beaver State, was being battered by a 60-mile-an-hour gale 868 miles east of Yokohama and had asked for assistance.

The Navy tug Arikara is proceeding at top speed to aid the Beaver State, the Navy said.

The freighter radioed her steering engine room was flooded and she was unable to navigate.

House Test Eyed On Far East Plan

WASHINGTON — (INS) — A test vote in the House on Administration policy in the Far East is in prospect for next week when efforts are made to obtain Congressional approval of an economic recovery program for South Korea.

Rep. Kee, Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said he would press for a vote on the Korean assistance bill despite the current controversy over Administration refusal to extend both military and economic aid to Nationalist China.

Republican critics of the program for the Korean Republic take the position that it is doomed to failure unless the Chinese government in Formosa receives similar backing from the United States.

The Administration, however, is anxious to get a decision in Congress on Korea at an early date since the present authorization for Korean relief expires Feb. 15.

The pending bill proposes a 150-million-dollar recovery program for the first year, but this amount is expected to be reduced to 120 million dollars to cover expenditures during the present fiscal year ending June 30.

A new program for the 1951 fiscal year then will be proposed.

Austell Library Dedication Set

Constitution State News Service

AUSTELL — The Sweetwater Valley Public Library will be dedicated and opened formally at an open house Saturday and the public is invited to attend and to inspect the new building.

The library, located on Powder Springs Road, contains more than 4,500 volumes, including reference books, novels, histories, periodicals and other works. Miss Kitty Mosley is librarian.

The library resulted from a movement started many years ago by the Austell Woman's Club and carried forward in recent years by leading merchants and citizens.

The Library Board was established in 1942 when the library site was purchased. The war years caused postponement of building plans until the middle of last year when the structure was started.

A room in the new building has been provided for a Cobb County Health Clinic.

HEART BALM, TOO New Fuzz On Pate Laid To Hen Eggs

RACINE, Wis. — (UP) — Farmer Ralph Smith stroked the fuzz on his otherwise bald head yesterday and said he got it from eating the "high-powered" eggs his chickens have been laying.

He claimed the eggs helped his wife's heart trouble, too.

Smith, who runs a poultry and fruit farm four miles north of here, said he wasn't too clear how the eggs worked.

But he said he was certain their peculiar qualities were the result of experiments he made to improve the health and vigor of his Hanson Leghorns.

Smith said he began his experiments four years ago. He spent $5,000 and a lot of time, he said, developing an elixir for his chickens.

It didn't work. Egg production dropped sharply.

But recently, he said, his hens began laying eggs again at a near-normal rate. And Smith, who had been eating the eggs, said he began getting hair on his head for the first time in 20 years.

He now is the proud possessor of a three-inch fringe around his previously barren pate, and a little fuzz on top.

Mrs. Smith claimed the eggs were making her feel "just like new-born again."

A doctor examined her, but he couldn't say whether the eggs were the cause of her improvement or not.

For an explanation, Smith said, "ask the chickens."

ROME—(AP)—Film Actor Domenico Orsini was supposed to portray a dying soldier during the shooting of a battle scene on a movie lot near here.

As Orsini sagged to the ground, his rifle butt struck a live bomb, placed on the set for use in a later scene. The bomb exploded. Orsini was killed.

VA Branch Studies Move To Atlanta

The Veterans Administration Branch Office, now housed in the old Bell Bomber Plant, is "investigating the possibility of leasing" office space in the new Realty Operations, Inc., building to be erected at Peachtree and Fifth Streets, Northeast.

John M. Slaton, Jr., VA Branch Manager, said, however, rumors that definite negotiations were underway were "premature."

"We haven't even been offered a proposal by the builders," he stressed. "The VA Branch Office moved to the Bell Bomber Plant with the announced intention of coming back into Atlanta when suitable space was afforded. Each time a new building of the size we would require is available, we investigate. This is just another possibility."

Women's Shop Charged With Patent Violation

Sony's Shops, Atlanta women's wear retail firm, is charged with infringement of the Letters Patent of the United States, through sale of a particular type of nylon stockings, in a suit filed in U. S. District Court here.

Sanson Hosiery Mills, Inc., a Delaware firm, and William G. Bley and Richard C. Spurgeon, Pennsylvania partners, complain the Sony's Shops are selling "ladies' stockings embodying a patented invention" of Bley and Spurgeon. The suit seeks an injunction against further sales, an accounting of profits and damages, and attorneys' fees.

By HERMAN HANCOCK

R. C. Witcher, Assistant City Purchasing Agent who was designated to act until a successor is elected to the late Purchasing Agent Lloyd Walker, probably will remain in the post until February or later, Ald. L. O. Moseley, Purchasing Committee Chairman, indicated. Moseley said he is "in no hurry" to decide on Walker's successor and added Witcher will occupy the post until a successor is qualified. When the vacancy occurred, Witcher was considered the logical choice. Since then there have been recurring reports that Ernest Brewer, Mayor Hartsfield's Executive Secretary, is being urged as a candidate and that at least two other candidates have sent up trial balloons.

Salvage Plans

Harry Andrews, City Land Agent, is preparing to ask Council's Public Works Committee to back him in an effort to salvage about $2,000 worth of timber from right-of-way property acquired by the City for an expressway link. Andrews says he expects to bring the matter to the Committee today. Andrews said he also expects to file several recommendations for purchase of other right-of-way tracts.

C. B. Grammer, known in the ring as "Hogjaw Mullen" was sent in with three bloodhounds to get Leon Turner, 38, and Wendell Whitt, 24, after a 100-man posse trapped them in the rocky hills. And Hogjaw delivered his men.

State officials indicated that he will receive favorable consideration at the next Parole Board meeting.

Turner and Whitt were wanted for the cold-blooded slaughter of three Negro children in a raid on a share-cropper's cabin. For three days the posse had drawn a tightening ring around them.

Then they sent for Grammer, who once before won a parole for catching criminals only to get in trouble again and go back to Parchman State penitentiary.

At a rendezvous in the pitch-black predawn hours Hogjaw arrived as a trusty, wearing his convict pants and two pistols strapped to his legs.

"I'll go get 'em," he said. It was a tough assignment. Turner, identified as the trigger-man in the cabin massacre, was known as a deadly shot. He could toss coins in the air and plug them as they came down, seldom missing a shot. Hogjaw had served time with him at Parchman and knew his reputation.

Grammer went in toward the fugitives' last stronghold with the first light, the dogs leading him to a potato-curing shack in the rocky hills.

"I let out a yell and made a dash toward the shack," Hogjaw said. "Turner and Whitt came running out. I let go nine shots. One of them hit Turner in the back as he attempted to go for his pistol. Another one got him in the knee."

Grammer then pounced on the wounded Turner, who apparently was not seriously hurt, and held him while the frightened Whitt surrendered meekly. The other possum came up and found Hogjaw in complete control.

Along with Whitt's brother, Malcolm, who was captured earlier, Turner and Wendell were accused of killing the Negro children and wounding their sister and father in retaliation against the family for having them jailed on robbery charges.

In Jackson, the Mississippi Senate immediately passed a resolution calling for prompt trial of the captives who should, if convicted, "pay the penalty as prescribed by law for the malicious crime of murder."

The Senate also expressed regret that the killers' victims, "these peaceful, law-abiding responsible people, were victims of an unwarranted assault by escaped convicts."

Columbus Firm Gets $340,000 Dirt-Moving Job

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Wright Constructing Company, of Columbus, Ga., has been awarded a $340,000 contract to move some 750,000 cubic yards of earth, the Southern Railway System announced.

The job, to be completed within a year, is an early step in a $3,000,000 expansion project at the railroad's John Sevier yards here.

Joe Allen's Plan

Councilman Joe Allen, of the Second Ward, has taken up his new duties as Council representative on the City Planning Commission. He functioned yesterday for the first time since his appointment by Mayor Hartsfield. Allen sponsored the naming of a street formerly used as the Georgia Power Company streetcar right of way running into Flat Shoals Road. The new street will be known as Howell Drive, S. E.

Grandpa Hartsfield

Grandpa Hartsfield, who serves as Atlanta's Mayor, has had one of his greatest thrills. His telephone rang yesterday and his 34-month-old grandson, Monty Cheshire, was on the other end demanding that the Mayor come to the Mayor's home to see his visitor.

They Mayor also conferred during the day with Councilman Douglas Wood, Chairman of Council's Tax Committee, about tax problems, and with Ald. Lee Evans, Chairman of Council's Park Committee, about zoo problems. He also attended meetings of the City Planning Commission and Council's Police Committee and spoke to members of the Naval Officers' Reserve at the Air Station.

About Zoning

When apartments are built on property zoned for industry or business in the future, the new construction must conform to land space requirements just as if the tracts were restricted for that use. That is, it must if Council approves recommendations of the City Planning Commission. Engineer-Secretary Wyant Bean made the recommendations and the Commission concurred. Action was deferred on a new ordinance requiring 1,000 square feet of land space for each dwelling house pending a further study by Bean. Under the present law, only 625 square feet are required.

Sweet Milk Stays at 22c; Buttermilk, Cream Cut

The consumer price of sweet milk will remain unchanged at 22 cents per quart throughout Georgia, but the farmer's price for four percent milk will be reduced 26 cents per hundredweight, under a proposal of the State Milk Control Board.

Following a meeting of milk producers and distributors, the Board ruled against change of price on grounds that "the cost of producing milk hasn't declined sufficiently to warrant a price reduction."

The Board pointed out that once such cost production does change sufficiently the savings will be passed on to the consumer.

The Board voted to lower the price of buttermilk by one cent per quart. Thus the minimum price now would be 14 cents per quart instead of 15 cents.

Charles Duncan, Director of the Board, said if any objections are raised to the proposed changes, a public hearing will be held before a final order is issued.

Reductions in the prices of whipping and coffee creams also were voted.

Whipping cream would be reduced from 35 to 25 cents per half-pint to the consumer; coffee cream from 18 to 15 cents as proposed.

The new price scale is scheduled to go into effect Feb. 1.

The Board voted to place buttermilk and cream on a surplus basis. Prices of these commodities when sold in bulk, or out of bottles, would be reduced to $3.40 per hundred pounds.

The proposed order regarding buttermilk and cream in effect would remove them from the Class One price range.

The Board proposed the farmer's price for four percent milk be reduced from $6.06 to $5.80 per hundredweight.

Duncan stated that the price of milk in bulk would be lowered in order to care for the State current surplus milk. The lowered price, the Board maintains, would put this surplus into use.

Platform prices would remain the same under the Board's new order.

Atlanta Among Cities Viewed For Academy

Atlanta and four other Georgia cities are being considered as possible sites for the Air Force Academy, it was announced in Washington.

Along with Atlanta are Athens, Brunswick, Carrollton and Manchester. The Georgia cities are included in a list of 195 locations recommended by the Air Force Academy Selection Board, of which Gen. Carl Spaatz, former Air Force Chief of Staff, is Chairman.

Other Southern sites recommended by the board are in Alabama, Arkansas and Florida.

The Board estimated that about 9,000 acres of land would be needed for a school such as is proposed, starting out with 2,500 ca-

Race Relation World Study Is Set by UN

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—A world-wide scientific study of races and racial relations was announced by the United Nations yesterday as part of a fight against discrimination toward minorities.

The study will be one of the chief activities of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, that group told Sec. Gen. Trygve Lie.

The report came as Western countries answered Soviet bloc charges that discrimination against minorities was rife everywhere except in the Soviet Union. The charges were voiced in a meeting of a UN sub-committee on the prevention of discrimination and protection of minorities.

Soviet Delegate V. I. Formashev argued that educational projects to stamp out discrimination were insufficient. In truly Democratic countries, he said, personal freedom was effectively protected by law.

Cadillac

Will Raise the World's Standard Again!

In 1950, the reasons for moving up to Cadillac will become so great, and so manifold, that if you are contemplating the purchase of any car outside the lowest-price field—you should see the new Cadillacs first!

Cadillac's new cars will have their initial presentation at the General Motors Mid-Century Motorama—at the Waldorf, in New York—from January 19th to 27th.

As soon after that as cars are available, the new Cadillacs will be placed on display for your inspection in this community.

In the meantime, here are some of the things you may look forward to seeing when America's most renowned motor car builder unveils its offerings for the ensuing year.

You will see four wholly new series of cars—all with entirely new bodies—and all so gorgeously styled that they are destined to change every existing idea as to how beautiful a motor car can be.

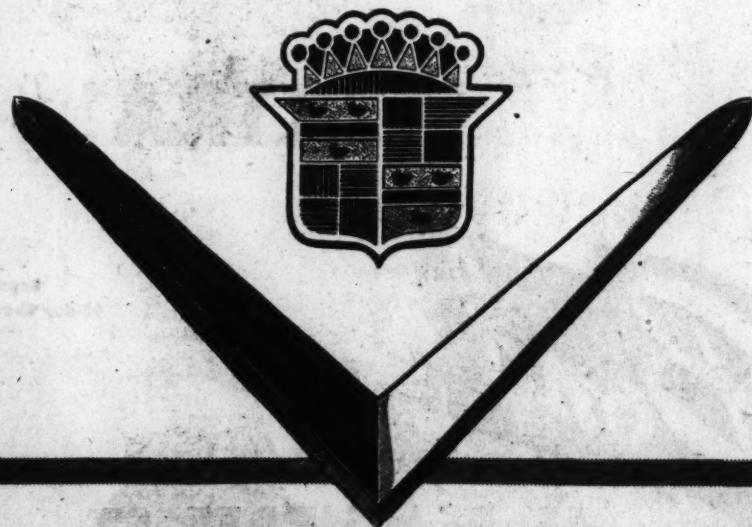

You will see cars whose performance is so outstanding that to drive one of them for a single hour is to want it forever. The advancement embraces every phase of performance—power, quietness, smoothness, safety, and handling ease. To drive a 1950 Cadillac, is to have the motor car thrill of a lifetime.

You will see scores of advancements and improvements which add to quality, endurance, economy and dependability.

And, finally, you will see all this in a car whose lowest-priced model will actually cost less than certain models of numerous other makes of cars!

Yes—you should see the new Cadillacs before you act in 1950. They will not only give you the new yardstick for motor car quality—but they will give you the new yardstick for motor car value, as well.

It won't be long! So please stand by for the presentation date for this community.

Wally Butts Reveals Drills for Hargrove

One of the most persistent hunters since open season on high school football players started Dec. 1 has been Mr. Wally Butts.

Still stinging from six defeats during the past season, the Georgia round man has roamed far and wide in search of talent. And he's still at it.

"I've got to get me some horses," he said, walking up Forsyth Street the other day, "and there's no use looking around here. That Dodd and his recruiting staff have cleaned up Georgia."

Butts turned in the Delta Air Lines ticket office.

"Look," he said, handing the young lady a slip of paper and ordering a ticket, "I'm even going as far as Canada trying to get 'em. We're inviting this fellow down from Ontario, across the river from Detroit. You know we don't block with a French-Canadian, I guess."

"He may not speak English but they tell me he can run 100 in 10 seconds and weighs 185 pounds. I'll take a chance on that."

Favorite Subject Mr. Butts then purchased himself a ticket to Florence, Ala.

"Got to make a speech," he explained. "This one and a couple more and then I'm gonna be awfully hard to get. I've got to start Spring practice and try to find me some ends and centers."

At lunch at the Ansley, Butts turned to his favorite subject of the moment... Lauren Hargrove, Fitzgerald's Fabulous Phantom.

"I'll tell you one thing," he beamed, "if he ever gets by them, there's nobody who can beat him. I've got a special practice worked up for him this Spring. You know we don't block very well at Georgia and I figure Hargrove will find himself in the other team's backfield a lot with no help."

"So I'm just going to line up three folks against him and tell him to get away."

Butts walked awhile about several things and somebody suggested he should follow the St. Louis Browns' example and hire a psychiatrist to work with the team.

"Guess we should," he muttered, "we do some curious things around there."

Big Tackle Butts' next stop was at Tommy Reeder's sporting goods emporium.

He telephoned Athens, listened to Quinton Lumpkin for a few minutes and grinned when he hung up.

"That Bob Walston went home to Columbus, Ohio, for Christmas," he said, "and when he came back he had a six-foot, 238-pound tackle with him. Looks all right, too, so we signed him up."

Somebody asked Butts how such a fellow escaped Ohio State and the other Big Ten schools.

"Don't know," he replied spontaneously, "I don't go 'round asking too many questions."

Wally said his assistants told him the big fellow had both "cat" and "eagle" in him. It seems, according to Georgia coaching terminology, that these are highly desirable traits in football players.

So is the word "rattlesnake."

Pressed for an explanation, Butts replied: "Well, our coaches use those terms to describe certain qualities in a boy. 'Cat' means the kid has quick physical movements and reacts to any situation."

"'Eagle' means he has character, looks you in the eye all the time he's talking and speaks up without hesitation."

"'Rattlesnake' means he will fight back like a true rattler when stepped on; he won't quit and has a lot of fire in him."

Pretty descriptive, eh? It's pretty easy to ascertain the "cat" and "eagle" in a kid by just looking and talking with him. But the "rattlesnake" quality doesn't show until he is actually tested in scrimmage and games.

If you see any 200-pound cats, eagles or rattlesnakes around, I'm sure Mr. Butts would like to talk with them.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—William A. (Bill) Holland yesterday filed a $250,000 damage suit against the producers of the motion picture, "The Big Wheel."

In his complaint, filed in U. S. District Court, the Indianapolis speedway champion asserted the film is based on the actual 1949 Memorial Day race.

In it, Holland said, "An actor impersonates himself as my plaintiff and is saved from defeat in the last lap by the hero of the play, portrayed by Mickey Rooney, only because of the break-down of the hero's car."

Rooney and former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey are among five individuals named defendants in the suit. The others are Alex G. Stiefel, Cheltenham, Pa.; his brother, Samuel, Hollywood, Cal.; and Harry M. Popkin, Hollywood. The latter three are partners with Dempsey in the firm of Popkin, Stiefel, Dempsey Productions.

Holland, a native of Reading, Pa., claims he did not give the producers permission either to use his name or have any one impersonate him in the film.

The "false" representation that Holland won the 1949 speedway race by a "fluke," said Holland, has done his professional reputation "considerable damage."

Furthermore, Holland averred, the producers and the distributing company usurped his name and reputation without compensation and he said the damages will grow greater every time the film is exhibited.

In addition to the damages, Holland asked the court for an injunction restraining the defendants from exhibiting the film in this district.

Holland said every suit is "likely" to be filed in other States where the film is shown.

BRANDEIS U. COACH HERE

Benny Friedman, Ex-Michigan Great, Has Frosh Gridders But No Varsity

By JESSE OUTLAR

Brandeis University is probably the only school in the nation that will field a freshman football team next season but won't have a varsity eleven.

If that strikes you as being unusual let Benny Friedman, former All-American quarterback at Michigan and now head coach and athletic director at Brandeis, give an explanation.

Friedman, one of the all-time greats at Michigan and in the pro ranks, was here yesterday to make a talk at the Standard Town and Country Club in behalf of the new University. And here's his version of the athletic setup:

"Brandeis, located at Waltham, Mass., is the first Jewish-sponsored, nonsectarian university in the country and has scholastic standards equal to any of our leading institutions. Such prominent instructors as Max Lerner are listed on the teaching staff."

"Presently, it's impossible for Brandeis, now in its second year, to participate in intercollegiate athletics, but next Fall we are launching our program with a freshman football team. All I need is a team and a stadium."

But don't get the idea Benny is discouraged. On the contrary, he's very enthusiastic.

"We plan to schedule teams such as Tufts, Amherst, Western Reserve and an occasional game with schools like Columbia. And we won't be having any trouble with the NCAA, for scholarships will be awarded in athletics, only if the boy proves he's deserving otherwise."

"I will coach the freshman team which, of course, will be our first varsity eleven in 1951. Right now Harry Stein, who was with me at CCNY, is my only assistant. But I'm considering several other fellows."

The conversation shifted to two-platoon systems and present-day football and Benny, who was a 60-minute man at Michigan and in pro ball, expressed disapproval of the present-day fad.

"I believe in giving a boy a chance on both offense and defense and see little advantage in the present system. Football today won't be about the game, it'll be more wide open and perhaps more spectacular—but blocking and tackling remain the basic factors. A team well trained in these fundamentals will do all right."

Friedman, during his college career and seven years with the pros, played against some of the greatest stars football has produced but declined to name one outstanding man. Dutch Clark, Ernie Nevers, and Bronko Nagurski rank right at the top of his list.

And come to think of it, Friedman belongs right along with those fellows. He made Walter Camp's All-American team in 1926, and was selected over his teammate, Fritz Osterbaan, present Michigan coach, as the outstanding player in the Western Conference.

Benny, likeable guy with a lot on the ball, should make a fine diplomat for Brandeis during its pioneer days. He made quite a hit here.

Vagabond Quintet Plays Delta Sunday

The Vagabond Kings, a flashy professional quintet from Dearborn, Mich., will meet Delta in the feature attraction of a three-game card Sunday afternoon at the Sports Arena.

Fred Campbell, who managed the Griffin baseball team of the Georgia-Alabama League in 1948, and "Sky" Stewart, seven-foot-two center, are two of the Vagabond standouts.

In other games, National Business plays Arena Blues, and the Rebels take on Clarkdale. The Vagabond-Delta game starts at 4 p. m.

REDSKIN STAR WANTS JOB

Baylor Seeks Sam Baugh

ROTAN, Texas—(AP)—Slingin' Sammy Baugh, meal ticket of the Washington Redskins, said last night Baylor University officials had asked him if he'd be interested in a job as head coach of the Bears. Baugh said he would be.

Contacted at his ranch near here, Baugh said, "They came out here and talked to me about it, but I won't know anything until they have a board meeting."

"I figure they've talked to about a dozen other guys, too," the lanky passing wizard of pro football said. (Thomas E. Turner, chief of the Dallas News Central Texas Bureau, said in a story from Waco that Baugh "appeared to be moving out in front" in the Baptist school's search for a coach to replace Bob Woodruff, who quit recently to go to the University of Florida.)

Turner said authoritative sources agreed that the preliminary hunt has narrowed down to Baugh, Backfield Coach Rusty Russell of Southern Methodist, and Don Faurot of Missouri.)

"I explained to the Baylor folks that I'm a pro player and am committed to play for the Redskins next season," Baugh said. "I told them I'd have to know in time to talk to Mr. Marshall (George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington team) about it."

"I'd be interested in the job all right if I could get things fixed up with the Redskins," he said.

Asked if he thought he could make a deal with Marshall so that he could take the Baylor job, Baugh said, "I don't know—that's why I told them I've got to talk to him."

He said Baylor had not made a definite offer, just asked if he'd be interested in coaching the Bears.

The former Texas Christian University star never has held a coaching job, although he has done a little backfield coaching with the Redskins on an unofficial basis. He has worked with Harry Gilmer, the former Alabama passer groomed by the Redskins to succeed Baugh.

Dr. W. R. White, Baylor President, said last night he had been out of the State since Saturday and was not abreast of the coaching situation.

"Baugh is a very popular figure and should make a great coach, but I haven't been informed of the (athletic) committee's action," he said. "I have instructed them to study the situation."

"No one has been definitely selected; the committee is just feeling around at present," White said.

Anderson Gets Columbus Job

COLUMBUS—(P)—Hal Anderson has been named 1950 manager of the Columbus Cardinal Baseball Club, President T. G. Reeves announced last night.

The new Cardinal skipper was with the Columbus Ohio, American Association club for the past three years as manager.

A baseball manager since 1937, with the exception of the war years, Anderson broke into the game with Ottumwa in the Mississippi Valley League in 1924.

He took over the Columbus, Ohio, Red Birds in 1947, his club finishing fifth in that year. In 1948, the Red Birds came in fourth and were beaten by St. Paul in the finals of the playoff.

His club dropped to sixth place in the American Association last year.

Anderson was a scout for the St. Louis chain in 1946.

He replaced Kemp Wicker who went to Houston in the Texas League after piloting the Cards here since 1946.

Decatur Boy Davidson Pilot

DAVIDSON—Two rising senior backs, Auburn Lambeth and Woody Leach, have been named captain and alternate captain for Davidson's 1950 grid Wildcats.

Lambeth, the slim Decatur, Ga., tailback whose passing arm has borne the brunt of Davidson's offense for the past two falls, will again be figured to lead the Cats' attack next season. Leach, a DeFuniak Springs, Fla., boy operates from the halfback post in the defensive backfield and this year was a standout at that spot.

Lambeth finished 13th in total offense in the nation this past season. Although considerably hampered by injuries, the 165-pound, 19-year-old finished 14th in passing and 18th on kickoff returns. The latter feat was accomplished in but four games.

Cedartown Dog Cops Alabama Fox Hunt

MOBILE, Ala.—Reno Girl, owned by C. W. Smith, of Cedartown, Ga., won the best in show award at the Alabama State Fox Hunt here yesterday.

Thirteen states were represented in the event.

BASEBALL BANTER

Georgia-Alabama Faces Vital Week

By JACK JACKSON

Although it is a couple of months until the first ball will be thrown, the current week is a highly important one for the Georgia-Alabama League, especially for its 1949 pennant winner and its newest addition.

In fact, that newest addition—Rome—could wind up with a franchise and no place to put it, should Newnan give up the ghost. Newnan's problems are more than financial. The Browns, a locally owned organization, won the pennant last year and suffered a drop in attendance. That isn't good, but a lot of other ball clubs fall off at the gate last summer, a natural tendency.

Possibly the chief problem at Newnan is the front office, a vital part of any club organization and a part which, in Newnan, has been carried out wholly by Sheriff Lamar Potts, the President of the club. Potts has done a good job. He is entirely capable, as events over the past three years have proved, but the point is he has been carrying the load all alone.

That's no easy assignment, and it isn't hard to see why the Brown President told the Directors of the League Sunday he wasn't sure the club would operate in 1950. He needs help from folks in Newnan, not only financial but physical as well.

The league as a whole sincerely hopes he gets that help. If it isn't forthcoming by the week-end, the Georgia-Alabama may have to go as a six team loop, and no one wants that.

Waiting

Meanwhile, Rome is anxiously awaiting Newnan's decision.

Jack Cole, who heads the Rome organization, is ready to go with a ball park and manager already in tow and with a city which has been crying for organized ball behind him. Norm Veazey, who piloted the Newnan club to a third place finish in 1949, is enthusiastic about Rome and anxious to return to the league after a year's absence.

Rome was one of the leaders in the proposed Dixie League, but would rather start in the established Georgia-Alabama. Both in attendance and quality of play, the city might easily lead Mr. Art DeCatur's circuit, so it's addition would seem to be a fine thing.

Tallies

There was a sad note at the LaGrange meeting, too, brought about by the formal withdrawal of the Tallahassee club.

Last summer, the Cardinals, who worked with the St. Louis Cards via Winston-Salem, released skipper Bob Comiskey in midseason, 1949, and when the year rolled around, Tallahassee was dropped from the Card system.

Feeling that they couldn't go along, owners decided to give it up, thus making room for the Rome club.

Still Hope

Of course, should Newnan withdraw, the loop might get an eighth starter from Thomaston, Talladega, Ala., or one of several other cities which have expressed interest in joining up.

But chances are, at this late date, the 1950 season would be that six-team season, with an eye toward expanding back to eight in 1951. That seems uncalled for. Addition of more veterans and more limited service players will make this summer's ball the best yet, and it would be a pity to have only six clubs playing. It's up to Newnan now. The rest must wait and see.

Human Blimp Slated For Tag-Team Match

A tag-team match looms as the highlight of the all-main event wrestling card tomorrow night at the City Auditorium.

That bout will match Earl Wampler and the Human Blimp—642-pounder—against Fibber McCoy and Nick Carter.

Other events scheduled are Red McIntyre against Jimmy Coffield; Don McIntyre against Texas Babe Sharkey, and Johnny Long against Jack LaRue.

DAVE WILLIAMS SIGNS PACT WITH NEW YORK GIANTS

NEW YORK (N.Y.)—New York Giant Prexy Horace Stoneham penned a $15,000 check for a 19-year-old catcher named Dave Williams, who has never played any higher than prep school ball. Also in the day's business was receipt of the signed contract of Dave Williams, the little second baseman who came up from Atlanta last year and appeared in nine games for the Polo Grounders. He cost $50,000 and figured to be the regular second baseman until the big deal brought Eddie Stanky from Boston. Now Dave rates only as a stand-in. His $7,000 wage is small enough for him to be carried as a bench-warmer. The club cleared itself of one player by selling the contract of Andy Tomasic, right-hander, to the Jersey City L. I. club. That was just a bookkeeping deal for he'd been on option across the river.

4-8 RECORD

Rams in Need Of Victories And Height

By GENE ASHER

Three first stringers and a total of ten lettermen are back at College Park this year. But with all those veterans, the 1950 Rams have won only four games in 12 starts.

Before the current cage season began, College Park, with more lettermen than any school in the NGIC, was expected to be one of the leading teams in the circuit but such is not the case.

Coach Harlan Harris, who had a 14-12 record last year, explains that one of the reasons the Rams are not a winning ball club is due to lack of height. This could be the answer. The squad averages only five-feet-ten and there is not a six-footer on the starting quintet.

Hinson Freeman, Cedric Couch and Jerry Bell are the returning starters and other lettermen include Neil Evans, Jimmy Holman, Ed White, Mickey Nichols, Bobby Nix, Joe Bishop and Eric Silverberg.

Bell has been out of action lately due to sickness and his loss has undoubtedly hurt the Rams, but he will be back in the game against West Fulton tomorrow night, so maybe College Park will begin a winning streak.

At any rate, height or no height, the Rams should have a championship club in 1951. They only lose three players from this year's squad which will leave them with seven men who have had two years of varsity experience. That should be enough material for any team.

Lanier Poets Dump Murphy

MACON—Lanier's Poets rolled over Atlanta's Murphy High, 48-37, here last night to notch their third victory in four starts this season.

Inman Veal, Lanier guard, bucked 13 points to lead the Poet attack which gained a 28-19 half-time advantage.

Colvin Hiest's 15 paced the visitors' offensive. Lanier has been beaten only by Perry this season.

Two Platoon System Gets Coaches Vote

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (N.Y.)—College football voted to keep the two-platoon system yesterday and a finger was pointed at 10 more violators of the sanity code in another explosive session of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Gray-haired Clarence P. Houston, of Tufts, head of the NCAA's policing agency, casually dropped the newest sanity code bombshell while coaches were in the midst of an all-day wrangle over rule changes.

The chairman of the Constitution Compliance Committee said the latest survey through questionnaires showed 10 institutions guilty of code infractions.

These infractions will not be dealt with at the present session, but will have their cases tackled next year after further probes, he said. Houston declined to identify the schools involved. He said they were in addition to the seven who have been recommended for expulsion this week. The showdown on these cases, the result of an earlier investigation, is scheduled at the full meeting Saturday.

Lou Little, chairman of the football coaches' Rules Committee, announced a list of recommended changes after a session that began early this morning and lasted until well after supper.

The recommendations go to the NCAA Rules Committee, headed by Harvard's Bill Bingham, which met Monday in Pinehurst, N. C. This group generally follows the mentors' suggestions.

The big news on rules was that the coaches decided to continue the much maligned and highly praised—depending on material strength—free substitution rule.

The rule, called by some the "death blow" of the sport, permits unlimited substitution during time-out periods. This has brought rise to two-platoon play, the employing of specialized offensive and defensive units.

In recommending that the rule be kept, the 30-man coaches' committee suggested a liberalization which it said should help the smaller squads.

Under this rule, each team would be permitted to send in one man after each play without incurring a penalty. Now a team is penalized five yards for substituting when the clock is running.

Little said this would be welcomed by the schools unable to play platoon football because they could make continuous changes after each down. The platoon teams can do it, too, he said, but would hardly be so inclined.

If this rule is accepted, the coaches recommended that the number of timeouts in a game be reduced from four to three for each team during a half. The other major recommendation was that the coin-tossing ceremonies be staged 15 minutes before game time to give the press an early start on lineups. Other rule suggestions dealt with blocking, personal fouls and deploying of officials.

The 10 new schools on the NCAA grid were kept a guarded secret. Four of the seven who face the NCAA wrath this week are known. They are University of Virginia, Virginia Tech, Virginia Military and The Citadel.

West Georgia Faces Atlanta Five Tomorrow

CARROLLTON — The West Georgia College Braves will play the Atlanta Evening School in Atlanta tomorrow night. The West Georgia College Military College game scheduled to be played here last Saturday night was called off.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Kansas' Quigley Slated To Retire; Ray Evans Mentioned as Successor

Ernest C. Quigley, Kansas athletic director and a nationally known sports figure for the past 30 years, will be retired this Spring, according to rumors from Kansas City last night. Ray Evans, All-America back at Kansas in 1947, and Arthur Lonborg, Northwestern basketball coach, loom as outstanding candidates for the job.

Chancellor Dean W. Maloot refused to confirm or deny the rumor, stating that he had no recommendation before the board of regents at present. J. V. Sikes, former Georgia end coach, is head football coach at Kansas.

HOT STOVE LEAGUE—Enos Slaughter, Marty Marion and Harry Breechen have signed their 1950 St. Louis Cardinal contracts. . . . Cleveland announced the receipt of signed pacts from outfielder Dale Mitchell and pitcher Gene Bearden. . . . Tommy Henrich's injured back appears completely healed. Dr. Sidney Gaynor reported after an X-ray examination in New York. . . . Boston's Red Sox expect little contract difficulties with players this year, except for some gentle hints that suggest Ted Williams is eager to become a $100,000 performer and little Johnny Pesky has a $20,000-plus salary complex.

After the opening game, all Cincinnati baseball day games will begin at 2 p. m. . . . Big Don Newcombe, Brooklyn rookie ace, says the Bums are a cinch to win the National League pennant again if Jackie Robinson isn't ratted. . . . Oscar Grimes, utility player with the Montreal Royals of the International Baseball League last season, has signed to manage the St. Johns, Que., team in the Provincial baseball league.

BASKETBALL—The Ivy basketball league voted unanimously to junk the two-minute rule after Saturday's games. All games will be played under the same rules from beginning to end. . . . The three-platoon Holy Cross basketball team, winner of 11 games and ranked fifth in the Associated Press poll, will oppose St. Louis

Brownie Doone Sets Pace In Open All-Age Stake

By BERT PRATHER
Constitution Sports Writer

WAYNESBORO—The running of the final 10 braces may change things around, but at the conclusion of yesterday's competition in the Georgia Field Trial Association's $1,000 Open All-Age Stake, Shore's Brownie Doone, present Continental Field Trial champion from the kennel of C. M. Livingston, Quitman, appeared to be well out in front in the battle for the fifty-first annual championship here.

Performing with plenty of snap and style under the guidance of Handler George Evans, of Quitman, Brownie put up two clean bevy finds to move into contention. Brownie, running in the last brace of the day with Tip Top Frank, owned by George Crangle, of this city, thus became the only dog in the stake thus far to score two finds.

Previously Ariel Radar, a Dr. H. E. Longsdorf entry, handled by Crangle; Clausen's Satchel Boy, and Tootin' Tootin' Newton, both owned by Euclid Clausen, of Augusta and handled by Freddie Bevan, Waynesboro, had produced game to rate consideration from Judges Dewitt Sinclair, Raiford, Fla., and J. E. Milhorn, of Johnson City, Tenn.

Kilsyth Lucky Dan, another Livingston-Evans entry, had a good class race but did not get on game. Six starters yesterday were lost and out of judgment when the judges called time.

One of these was Rebecca Motte, owned by D. E. Sheffer, Kirkwood, Mo., and handled by Fred Arant, Fort Meade, N. C. It was a rough break too since the pointer had racked up a covey find and looked fairly good on her race.

Yesterday's seven braces brought the stake up to the halfway point. Seven more will be contested today and the final three, which includes two bye dogs, is set for Friday morning. The winner will be announced at that time.

Most of the visitors here will move on to Quitman for the opening of the annual Continental trials Monday.

WELL PLEASED—JIMMY JONES

Citation Wins Easily at Santa Anita

By BOB MYERS

ARCADIA, Cal.—(AP)—Citation, a magic name in horse racing, hit the comeback trail yesterday, scoring an easy victory in the mud and rain at Santa Anita Park.

The five-year-old champion of the famed Calumet Farm stable, returning to racing after a 13-month vacation and pointing for Santa Anita's rich $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 25, breezed in an easy length-and-a-half victory in the six furlong test.

It wasn't a fit day for man or beast, but Citation didn't seem to mind the conditions or the competition from his three rivals in the race.

Jockey Steve Brooks kept Citation off the pace but gave him a tap with the whip as the quartette hit the run into the stretch. Then his rich bay beauty rolled into the lead.

Clifford Moore's Bold Gallant finished second, Rex Ellsworth's Roman in came in third and Chutney brought up the rear.

Citation traveled the six furlongs in 1:11 2/5 and paid off $2.30 and $2.10. Bold Gallant paid

$2.30. There was no show betting pool.

Frankly, it was merely a work out under actual racing conditions, and the big train from Kentucky, packing 124 pounds, made the most of it.

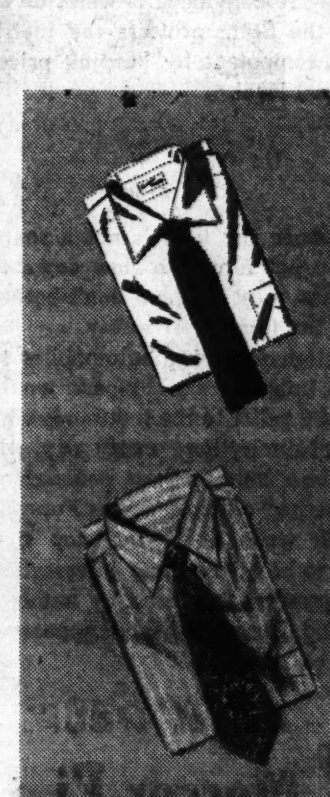

A small crowd, estimated at 13,000, braved the bad weather to watch the hurriedly arranged appearance of Citation, and see him notch his twenty-eighth triumph in 30 trips to the post. The $2,500 first purse money was chicken feed, but for the records, it boosted Citation's all-time earnings up to $887,750.

Trainer Jimmy Jones was all smiles. Citation injured a leg in winning the Tanforan Handicap, Dec. 11, 1948, and the horse has been brought cautiously and carefully back to the turf war.

"I'm not worrying so much now," Jones said. "And I think he's going to be all right. Naturally, I am very well pleased and am well satisfied with the way he ran. I thought Steve handled him fine." Jones said the remainder of Citation's conditioning program depends on how he comes out of this trial, and "when he shows me, as he did a couple of days ago, that he wants to run again."

Georgia's Tax Problems

Ralph McGill is away on a two-week vacation and invited me to do a piece for him on the State's fiscal problems and tax needs. I am happy to oblige and I hope Ralph enjoys himself far removed from the exacting duties and requirements of editing a big city newspaper.

I said I was glad to oblige, but I should have said I am happy to try for writing on the State's fiscal problems and tax needs is a whole of a subject to cover at one sitting. It is like trying to write something good about sin.

Needs In every organized society, a part of what is spent for the goods and services men desire is spent by individuals on a basis of individual choice. Another part, usually smaller, is spent collectively, by government, supposedly for the general good. In recent years the term "general good" or "general welfare" has come in for considerable discussion. It means many things to many people.

Georgia's original tax structure was based on taxing tangible property and land. Changes have come about. Industrial development and the demands on the government by the people are responsible for most of these changes. Georgia, along with other States, began to follow the example of the Federal Government. Just as the Federal Government encroached more and more upon the taxable wealth within the several States, so did the States, to a lesser degree, reach into the counties and cities to get much-needed additional revenue to carry out programs of public service.

Expansion These present-day programs, which call for, expansion of the State services in education, public welfare, public health and highways are of grave concern because new sources of revenue must be found and new methods of taxation employed if they are to be financed with a degree of satisfaction. While counties and municipalities have, for the most part, continued to rely on the ad valorem tax as the chief source of revenue, the State has found this revenue to be inadequate. Over a period of years, to a basic property tax the State has added excise taxes on motor fuels, tobacco, spirits, liquors, malted beverages, a tax on insurance premiums and, as time moved on, to this structure was added a tax on individual incomes and a levy on corporation income profit. In addition, the State has piled on several hundred special taxes which are commonly referred to as nuisance taxes.

Revision Much has been said about tax revision. Tax revision to me means streamlining the State's tax structure and giving it a dry cleaning at the same time. By that I mean to take off the many patches from the crazy quilt and give these patches to the cities and counties. They will find little revenue in them, but it will satisfy the demands of many dissatisfied people. In my opinion, if the State were to eliminate approximately 200 of the so-called nuisance taxes, the revenue lost to the State would not exceed $2,000,000. Countless taxable items in the present general tax act would be of concern only to counties and municipalities. Most of these items found their way into the general tax act, not because of their value as revenue raisers, but because of some specific regulation desired. As an example, take the tax on itinerant mule dealers. Any proposal in the past to repeal that tax brought immediate and vehement protest from the mule dealers of Atlanta (the second largest mule market in the world, according to His Honor, Mayor William B. Hartsfield).

"Don't you know," they said, "why we want this tax? It is to be used as a check on gypsy mule traders."

I haven't seen any gypsies in several years and a good mule in Southwest Georgia today won't bring as much money as a second-hand portable typewriter, so I guess it will be all right to abrogate the tax on itinerant mule dealers. There are countless other special license taxes of similar nature, too numerous to mention here.

Property There is a proposal that the State retire from the property tax field. I favor the plan, provided the cities and counties take up the slack and use this revenue where it will do the most good.

It is slightly less than $7,000,000 now and if it is properly utilized by the cities and counties the taxpayers will receive no relief. In fact, I see no immediate relief on the horizon for any taxpayer. One erroneous conception is the idea that if the State gets out of the ad valorem field it will mean freedom from all ad valorem taxes. That should be made plain to every citizen. It only means that the State will give up part or all of the present five mills it is now collecting on property.

Let's have tax revision by eliminating all nuisance taxes first. Let's tighten our belts and cut State costs wherever possible. Right economy won't hurt us any in Georgia. The total revenue of Georgia in the fiscal year of 1941-42 was $70,000,000. It is $110,000,000 plus today. I am not an advocate of a $175,000,000 annual budget in this State because I am not sure that we can afford it.

After we have tried rigid economy in State government and have called on the cities and counties to bear just share of the costs of an expanded school program, public welfare and public health and then if we still can't make ends meet, we can find another tax to place on the shoulders of the people of Georgia. Taxes are easier to talk about than they are to raise. Everybody wants them provided the other fellow pays them.

JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

The Scandal in Defense

WASHINGTON—It is a little hard to convey, to a naturally peaceable people, the real meaning of the defense "economics" in the President's new budget. This is particularly true when the Secretary of Defense himself publicly asserts that defense savings are being "made without any reduction in our state of preparedness," as Louis Johnson recently told the National Manufacturers' Association.

Fortunately, however, there is one very easy way to show what a gross deception is now being practiced. Consideration has recently been given to revising the capabilities plan of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to provide for withdrawal from Japan, Okinawa and perhaps the Philippines in case of war. This is how far we have come under Louis Johnson's "economy" program.

Plan The process of impairment of our security began in the autumn of 1948, when President Truman rejected the pleas of the late Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal, to implement the Joint Chiefs' requirements plans. The JCS requirements plan is what its name implies—a plan setting forth the minimum requirements for fully defending this country and the free world from potential Soviet aggression.

The decision of the President's threw us back, defense-wise, on the Joint Chiefs' capabilities plan. This plan is also what its name implies—the JCS plan for doing the best we can with what we have, in event of sudden war. The available American combat strength, present and in prospect, is being progressively whittled away by Johnsonian "economics," thus the capabilities plan has to be continuously revised. As reported in this space, all hopes of holding in the Mediterranean was sacrificed some time ago.

The decision to withdraw from the Pacific has now caused the wartime fate of our garrisons in Japan and Okinawa to be called in question (which makes Secretary Johnson's project for a Formosa adventure look pretty sick). Our Pacific Navy is hardly stronger than at the time of Pearl Harbor. This might not matter, since there is no Japanese navy to oppose us. What is really far worse is the fact that only the smallest beginning is being made on the task of combating the new, high-speed, radar-proof German submarine which the Soviet Union is building in quantity.

Submarines It is true that Admiral Forrest Sherman has sensibly concentrated his efforts on improving the Navy's anti-submarine capabilities, which are now hopelessly inadequate. But the task is enormous, and enormously expensive. It cannot possibly be done, on any important scale, within the framework of the Defense Department's "economy" policy.

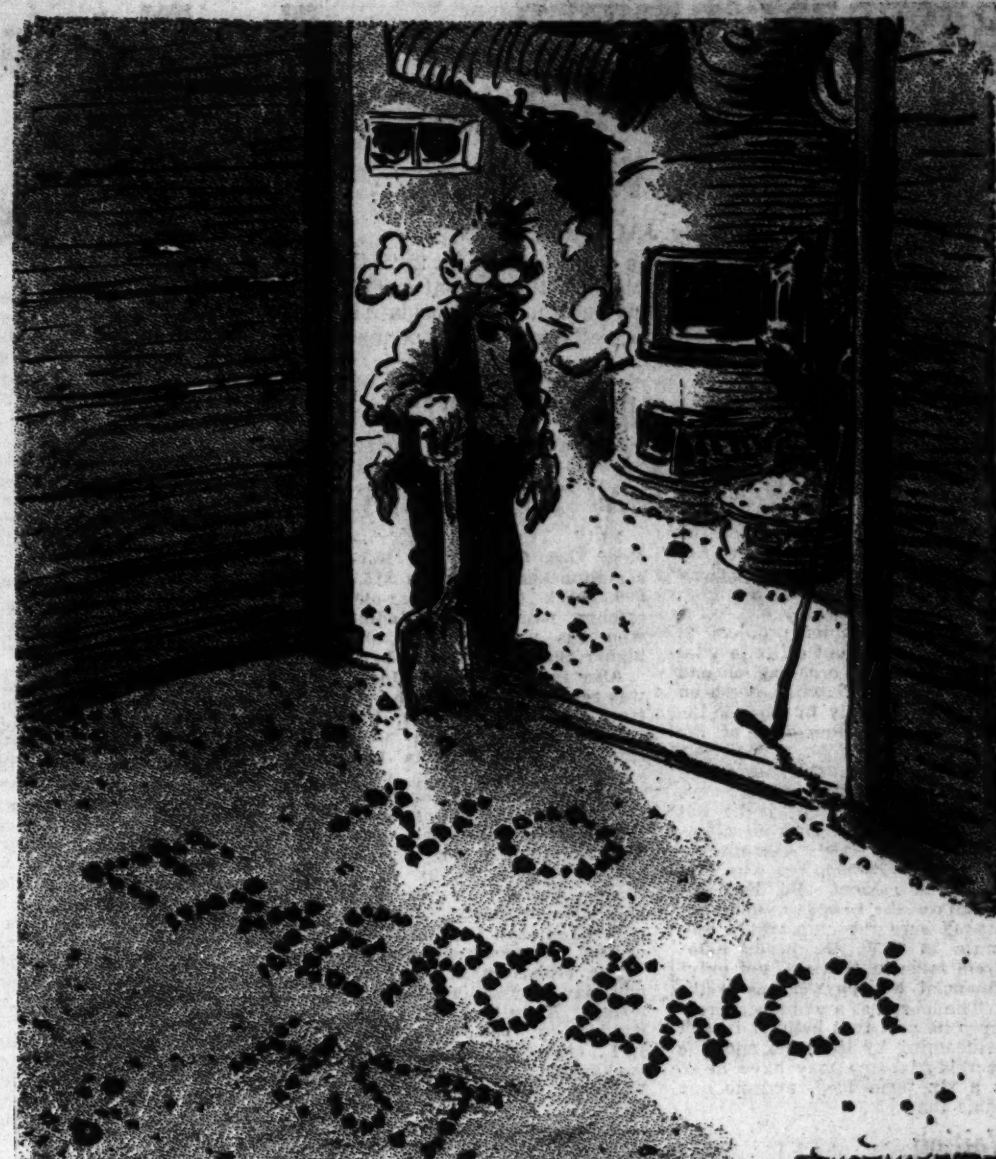

Continued penny-pinching on our anti-submarine effort plus Soviet submarine development, can add up to only one outcome. The trans-Pacific lines of communication will be indefensible. Our Japanese and Okinawa garrisons will be cut off and left exposed. The trans-Pacific positions will become untenable.

Very likely the existence of the problem will be denied and the problem will be handled as was that of the Philippines and Guam before the last war. But official denials and official delusions will not alter the underlying situation, or the meaning of that situation to the security of this country.

Aircraft Furthermore, this situation involving our trans-Pacific bases is by no means special or untypical. The requirements plan of the Joint Chiefs of Staff (and every other serious study) calls for an American Air Force of 70 groups as the minimum consistent with reasonable security. By 1955, according to official calculations, the Johnsonian "economy" policy will leave us with an Air Force of about 35 groups equipped with modern aircraft, plus some cats and dogs.

This "economy" is to be accomplished, moreover, by something seriously like the abandonment of fighter and tactical aviation as American weapons.

If the people were frankly consulted, and if they then freely chose to denude their own defenses, no one could criticize Secretary Johnson. But what is being done is a grave scandal—there is no other word—against the background of the kind of statement the Defense Secretary made to the assembled manufacturers not so long ago.

Oh, No?

Milk Board Weaning the Public?

The State Milk Control Board has again refused to lower the price of milk.

The State Milk Control Board? The State Milk Control Board is the State of Georgia's attempt to repeal the law of supply and demand.

The State's dairymen have milk running out of their ears. But they can't sell it for less than 22 cents a quart until after it has turned to clabber.

Neither can they readily curtail production. John L. Lewis' example, notwithstanding, you can't put a cow on a three-day week.

Producers, distributors and, theoretically, consumers are all represented on the Board. But there doesn't seem to be any getting around the fact that the former have the latter cowed.

It's a shame in a way that the State Milk Control Board isn't a highly successful, private enterprise. Then the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice could make it behave.

As it is, we'll just have to go on paying 22 cents a quart for milk and letting the dairymen keep the cream. I only hope some of them have enough sense to realize that, at the rate they're going, it's just a question of time before they have us all weaned.

The Constitution welcomes letters on either side of any subject. They should not exceed 200 words and must be signed although names will be withheld on request. We regret none can be returned. Address all letters to Editor Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

'The Whole Truth'

Editor Constitution: On reading the column written by Mr. Charlie Roberts, Jan. 8, concerning the eight-semester rule in football, we feel it is our duty to express our appreciation to a man who has "guts" enough to write on a subject which seems to bother no one except those who will suffer. We are only a few from one high school but just think of how many there are all over the State. Here at Bass our entire starting eleven of next year plus about five others are ineligible just because of this rule. Most of us have "wasted" two or three years at the great American game of football for nothing.

When the school system was changed, most of us were in the ninth grade here at Bass Junior High yearning for a chance to go to Boys High or Tech High. We were deprived of that privilege, and now it seems that they are "picking" on us again. We might have had half a chance to go to college on scholarship, but now most of us will find up "peddling apples" or "digging ditches."

We would like to thank The Constitution and Mr. Charlie Roberts for writing the whole truth about our situation.

Morals

Editor Constitution: Seems to me that people as smart as you are ought to know the cause of the sex problem. I believe Mr. McGill has as much sense as any man I ever read after, but I do not suppose he has given the problem any thought.

Don't you know that this young generation that is coming on now with the bad knowledge that they have, can't live right and everywhere they see pictures of nude women? How I wish you would take the one off your front page regarding the weather.

We did not have any of this until the movie industry took charge of the morals of this country. You rarely hear the name of Jesus mentioned except by ministers who have to pay commercial rates to tell a lost and dying world about Him. In the broadcast, if they would use more sacred music it would be so uplifting and one day when you have to stand at the great judgment seat of Christ, it might be well with your soul.

May the Lord bless the dear old Georgia-owned paper to grow and prosper more and more every day.
W. H. HOLBROOK.
Atlanta.

Segregation

Editor Constitution: Your column recently carried letters from Young and Old Alex on "Segregation in Churches."

They are carrying things rather far when they try to say that segregation, with its attending evils, is Almighty God's plan. Our Lord created many things of beauty and usefulness among the creatures of the earth and He created man in His own image.

The Negro does not want "mixing" of the races any more than any other group of people in this country. One has only to observe the hue and texture of the people in any town in this country to realize that "mixing" of the races is already a reality.

Negroes are either Americans or are not Americans. We pay taxes and fight wars. We are no longer content with the lot of "separate but equal" accommodations. We have no desire to sit, eat or study beside someone because of his complexion. We dislike segregation because of what it does to our dignity and souls. We dislike, with deep intensity, laws and regulations which restrict us to a separate status.

Dr. Sander

Editor Constitution: We are hearing much about Dr. Hermann Sander, of Manchester, N. H., giving Mrs. Borrois air in veins, she dying a few minutes later. I happen to know both Dr. and Mrs. Sander. My daughter lived across Hall Street, facing them, 15 years. We know they are very fine folks, and would never believe Dr. Hermann Sander would willfully kill anyone. I know him so well I can say he is a great doctor and a great man. I am not a perfect Christian, but I do have a perfect Lord.

MRS. ALLIE MITCHELL,

Tell 'em About This

Editor Constitution: I enjoyed Ralph McGill's recent editorial, in which he stated how at the end of another fifty years he would like to wrap a shawl around his shoulders and with the squeaky voice of old age tell the youngsters of that day some of the sensational stories of athletic accomplishments in earlier years; but I note Mr. McGill goes back "just a little old forty years." When that time comes I want him to call in some real "old-timers" who can tell those youngsters of the days when the "hurdle" was the sensational play in football, and Dr. Frank Ridley and Marvin Dickenson, of LaGrange; Sandy Beaver, of Gainesville; Will Turner, of Barnesville; Jack Bower, of Bainbridge, and John Monahan, of Pelham, were among the "stars" of the Georgia team. I would like to tell them of the Thanksgiving Day game in Atlanta between Georgia and Auburn in 1902, and how Ridley went down the field with all the speed of a perfect athlete, with the ball tucked securely in his arm; and how he dodged all interference except one Auburn tackle who stood directly in his path in a slightly bent position, and how Ridley arose from the ground and went over that tackle's head with the greatest of ease, like some perfect performer on a flying trapeze, and carried the ball for a touchdown. I read of football "heroes" today, but their "sensational plays" seem elementary compared to some of the stunts fifty years ago, when a perfect co-ordination of brain, muscle and nerve was required for a "finished player."

Shortly after the above game the "hurdle" was ruled out as too dangerous; and a good many college papers severely criticized this ruling, accused the members of the committee as being "too afraid papa's little boy might get hurt," and humorously suggested the substitution of ping-pong for college football; but the ruling was entirely correct, for the "hurdle" was a play in which "papa's little boy" could easily be killed. If the Auburn tackle had caught Ridley's foot that day while he was up in the air, it would have been a terrific fall, and he might have been lying there yet, and the good people of LaGrange would thus have been denied the benefits of his excellent professional service through the years.

The Consumer Forgotten Again

Georgians will keep on paying two cents a quart above the national average for their milk.

That is the gist of the action taken yesterday by the State Milk Control Board.

The Board did establish an elaborate price structure designed to speed disposal of "surplus" milk at prices lower than those now existing. But the consumer won't gain a penny there so far as we can see. Only those buying in bulk will really gain.

Meanwhile, Tennessee, New York State and nearly every other government which controls the price of milk has brought down the price within the past year.

Georgia, which can support dairy cattle on year-around pastures, continues to keep the price up. Most Northern States, where herds must be fed most of the year, have cut prices.

We long ago suggested that the Milk Control Board ought to be abolished. Yesterday's action causes us to repeat that suggestion.

Producers and distributors who profit by the artificial price levels are heatedly against such a proposal, of course. Anyone who suggests that milk ought to be allowed to seek its own price level, dictated by competition, is accused of being an enemy to the State's growing dairy industry.

We'd like to see the dairy industry in Georgia develop into a strong and virile one. And we're convinced it won't do so as long as the State protects the inefficient and incompetent by keeping prices at an artificial level.

A Suggestion to the Police

The Atlanta Police Department has been doing a fine job with traffic in recent months.

Elimination of street parking in congested areas has made for smoother traffic flow. New white lines, marking lanes on thoroughfares, have helped. And so has better enforcement.

But there remains at least one trap for the unsuspecting pedestrian. It is at the junction of the Union Railroad Station by-pass and Forsyth Street.

Automobiles—and taxicabs are special offenders—whizz out of Forsyth into the by-pass with no apparent thought of pedestrians. Since the turn is not a sharp one, cars are not forced to slow down to round it. And most of them don't bother to do so in the interest of safety.

A regulation requiring automobiles to stop before entering the by-pass would bring thankful relief to the thousands who risk life and limb there every day. It also would be a help to those pedestrians using the marked crossing across Forsyth.

And while we're at it, the stop sign which used to be at the other intersection of the by-pass—the one used by automobiles entering Forsyth—has disappeared. It ought to be replaced.

A New Editor for The Madisonian

The Madisonian, published in the county seat of progressive Morgan County, begins its eighty-third year with a new editor.

Earl T. Leonard, formerly of Birmingham, has bought the paper from Belmont Dennis, Covington publisher, who has operated The Madisonian for the last few years.

"For the last two years I have investigated papers in Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Florida and Georgia in my quest for an ideal paper combined with an ideal locality in which to raise my son," Mr. Leonard is quoted in the first issue of the Madisonian issued under his ownership. "I chose Madison and Morgan County as being closer to my ideal than any of the others."

We congratulate Mr. Leonard upon his discernment and his acquisition. Madison is a good city and, with his help, will doubtless become a better one.

Wisdom To Remember

At the start of a new session of Congress, when some disturbing extensions of the Federal Government's power will be debated, it would be well for the people and their representatives to recall what Abraham Lincoln had to say on the subject.

Lincoln's words, which were dug up and published by Look magazine, run like this:

"You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift."

"You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong."

"You cannot help strong men by tearing down big men."

"You cannot help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer."

"You cannot further the brotherhood of man by encouraging class hatred."

"You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich."

"You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money."

"You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn."

"You cannot build character and courage by taking man's initiative and independence."

"You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves."

These sentiments were voiced nearly a century ago by a man to whom Democrats and Republicans equally pay homage.

They ought to be remembered today.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

Looking Forward to Election

WASHINGTON—The Democrats are looking forward to the coming November elections with complete confidence in their ability to retain control of both the House and the Senate. After reviewing the situation party leaders are agreed that the outlook at this time is about as good as could be expected. What they are relying on chiefly is the tide of popular feeling in the Presidential election and the special elections of last year, which showed Democratic sentiment in the ascendancy. They believe the tide is still running in their favor.

The elections this year will see all 435 members of the House and slightly more than a third of the Senate facing the polls. Because of the large majority the Democrats hold in the lower chamber, it is virtually conceded on all sides that the Republicans have little hope of upsetting the control there. Even the Republicans talk only of reducing the size of the majority rather than of winning control.

Republicans are pinning their hopes largely on the Senate because of the closer division between the two parties there. But here again the prospects do not seem to favor them as much as they do the Democrats. Senate Democratic leaders are currently discussing election campaign plans which they hope will yield them a gain of three to six Republican seats, whereas the best the Republicans can see at this time is a gain of about two Democratic seats.

Hence, if the measure of optimism found among the leaders of the two parties may be used as a guide, the Democrats stand to come out of the election with a net Senate gain of several seats. As one veteran Democratic observer has put it, "we have a better chance to win six seats than to lose two."

Present division in the Senate is 54 to 42 in favor of the party in power. In the elections of this fall the seats of thirty-five Senators will be involved, including twenty-two held by the Democrats and thirteen held by Republicans. But where the Democratic advantage lies is in the fact that eleven of their expiring seats come either from states of the Solid South or others where the party is strongly entrenched.

The states where Republicans come up for election this year and which promise to be the main battleground of the 1950 congressional campaign include Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Iowa, Idaho, Colorado and Wisconsin. Some Democrats think there is even a chance of unseating Republicans in North Dakota and Kansas.

Balanced against these Democratic seats must be defended in Illinois, Pennsylvania, California, Nevada, Washington, Connecticut, New York, Idaho and Utah. The weakest spots in the Democrat list are Idaho, where Senator Glen Taylor is up, and Pennsylvania, where Senator Francis J. Myers faces election.

It is far too early, of course, to appraise events which are to come nearly ten months later, but there is one significant factor in the situation that is interesting to call attention to. If the Republicans do not win control of the Senate this year, it will be 1954 before they will be given another chance. That is because the Democratic position in 1952 will be even stronger than it is today, with respect to the advantage the party will have in the vacancies arising that year.

In 1952 only eleven Democratic seats will be contested, as against twenty-one Republican. And of the eleven Democratic contests only about three will be in states outside of the South and normally Democratic border states.

There is not much hope for Republican to pile up many gains in 1952. If they fail to upset Democratic Senate control this year, they could conceivably win the presidential election of 1952 without having a majority in the Senate, thus forcing a period of divided congressional control for at least two years under the new administration.

Ought Wire-Tapping Be Allowed?

WASHINGTON—The times are out of joint for some of us around here of another generation who were raised in the tradition, and crusaded for it, that American citizens are entitled to privacy of their opinions and beliefs and could think and say what they pleased without being molested or spied upon or subjected to eavesdropping by minions of the law. But it's a new world, not a brave new world, nor even the more comfortable world before our two global wars and their ideological conflicts, but a world of fear and distrust. We'll probably have to get used to it and keep our mouths shut, but you don't have to like it.

These observations, which are philosophically resigned, are provoked by two recent developments here showing the temper of our times.

One is the movement for a permanent Federal loyalty program to pass upon Government employees. It started over in the Pentagon where our military brass throws its weight around as if the war still were on and now has the approval of Seth Richardson, Chairman of the Loyalty Review Board appointed by the President, which has about finished its job of combing through the nearly 2,000,000 Government employees in its search for "disloyalty."

The other is Attorney General J. Howard McGrath's acquiescence, after a review of FBI wire-tapping methods and procedures, to continue wire-tapping. It is known that the attorney general, soon after he took office, was inclined to favor ending this practice, though he reserved final opinion until the review, which he now has made.

Wire-tapping, as now practiced, is presumably restricted and circumscribed. It can be done only after approval of the Attorney General in each specific case and is supposed to be confined to cases of espionage, sabotage and kidnapping under a rule of thumb laid down by former Attorney General Francis Biddle. It came back into use for war purposes and was approved by the late President Roosevelt. The war is over. But the present Attorney General bases his certification for continuance on "the emergency which still prevails and the necessity of protecting the national security." That emergency means the "cold war" so-called, which, of course, may continue for some time. Arnold Toynbee, the famous English historian, figures perhaps half a century. Evidence obtained by wire-tapping is not admissible in courts of law under a Supreme Court decision, which was an issue in the Judith Coplon-Valentin Gubitchev trial in New York where it was revealed that the FBI did lots of wire-tapping, including telephone conversations between counsel and client.

Making the loyalty network permanent is involved in a pattern with the FBI and its activities. The FBI does the investigative work for the Loyalty Board. Together, they constitute a Federal super-police system which seemingly is to go on in our Government. Some of the things that have leaked out of the Loyalty Board, the prying into private lives, opinions, political activity and reading habits, indicate the danger of abuses in such a system under permanent status, especially with the inadequate legal protections for anyone caught up in it, no matter how innocently.

There is no way to turn the light on it, as there is no way to find out how carefully the FBI uses the wire-tapping technique. Such operations are all secret, and newspapers have virtually no way of keeping on them that check which is so essential in a democracy.

The exhaustive inquiry into nearly 3,000,000 Government employees found only a handful of "loyalty" risks or, in other words, the Government service was, according to the FBI, 99.99 percent, which seems pretty good. Why could not the ordinary procedures for checking Government personnel, including that of the Civil Service Commission, serve adequately in peacetime, as they did for so many years? They have ample powers.

But that is perhaps just an old-fashioned idea that takes too little account of the strange fears abroad in the world today which have had a slowly deteriorating influence on American democracy as we of another generation knew it. Please forgive us old fogies. We'll try to keep our mouths shut and our powder dry.

FRED OTHMAN

Steve Pace Most Modest of All

WASHINGTON—The time has come to consider that literary thriller and biographical masterpiece, the Congressional directory, edition of 1950. Just try to lay it down. This is the 942-page volume, bound in buckram as blue as the mood of a tax collector, in which our greatest men take pen in sweaty fist and tell how great they really are. Some, like Rep. Stephen Pace, are modest to the extreme. "Democrat, Americus, Ga.," is what he has to say about himself. Others are more long-winded; a few, I'm afraid, have strained arms from patting themselves on the back. But let's judge this book on its literary merit:

The Veep tells about his marriage to Mrs. Carleton Hadley in St. Louis. Rep. Frank Boykin, the Mobile, Ala., Democrat, reports that he's now identified prominently with real estate, farming, livestock, timber and naval stores, but has not one word to say about the bear meat a game warden found in his deep freeze.

Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas, of Los Angeles, the most beautiful Democrat, identifies herself as a stage star and opera singer. Sen. William Benton, the new Democrat from Westport, Conn., writes at length about his career as advertising agent, educator and international publicity man for the State Department. He tells about being boss man of the Encyclopedia Britannica and adds that lately he became Chairman of the Board of Muzak Corporation, which he has owned for 10 years and which pipes music into such places as saloons and streets.

His Republican neighbor in Westport, Conn., Rep. John Davis Lodge, is almost as coy (in print, that is) as Rep. Pace. You'd never guess that Rep. Lodge used to be a movie star; at one time he reports he was employed by motion picture companies. Might have been a ticket-taker for all he's got to say, or a third assistant director.

Rep. Adolph Sabath, Democrat, Chicago, who is the hottest-tempered Congressman (once he got so angry he fell out of his chair), says he is the dean of the House, where he had been elected 21 times since 1906, served under eight Presidents and nine Speakers, and is the only living member of the History Committee on Foreign Affairs during World War I.

A Timetable for Action

A consolidation of governmental functions such as proposed by the Local Government Commission's "Plan of Improvement" for Atlanta and Fulton County involves many complex legal problems as well as those of an administrative and financial nature. For instance, the Commission figures that even if the people approved the plan in a referendum this year it would take until 1951 for the necessary enabling legislation to be passed so the plan could be put into operation in 1952.

Here is the time-table the Commission has suggested whereby the plan could be made operative at the earliest possible date:

To begin with the Fulton and DeKalb delegations would have to get this legislation approved in this month's session of the General Assembly:

1. A bill providing for a vote in the next general elections on constitutional amendments authorizing the General Assembly to put certain parts of the Plan of Improvement into effect.
2. A bill providing for a 1950 referendum wherein the people of the areas affected would vote whether they want the Plan of Improvement or not.

3. Bills to permit the consolidation of the Fulton County Tax Assessor's and Tax Collector's offices into that of a Tax Commissioner, and to permit a property appraisal survey and authorize development of uniform personnel standards for Atlanta and Fulton employees.

The Commission's legal advisers figured that four Constitutional amendments would be necessary. One would permit the City school system to take over County school property in the new City area. Another would permit a joint City-County planning and zoning board.

We Can't Afford Inaction

(LaGrange News)

A committee that met for two years and spent $100,000 of the taxpayers' money eating and stopping at fine hotels (and traveling some, too) has turned back to the government the responsibility of cooking up a new tax structure, saying they recommend more efficiency under the present laws. We wonder where they learned the word "efficiency." They certainly have been far removed from it for a period of years, and have never, to our knowledge, been exposed to any good examples of it.

The studying of the committee wasn't a total loss. Everybody knows why they didn't make any major recommendations to be put into effect immediately. "They" couldn't afford to, with a Governor's election coming on. The question, however, should have been, could "we" afford for them NOT to make some immediate changes.

"During January the health and the foods should be watched. It is a month of reaction and adjustment."

—Excerpt from health column.

This is a very trying time... this month of January... and we would seek a warmer clime... where seasons do not vary... but there is work which must be done... and that's what man is made for... to struggle on, from sun to sun... to see that things are paid for.

You have a pleasant holiday... and get a little rested... then pleasures must be put away... once more the strength is tested... before the month is very old... it's rained and snowed and sleeted... you're tired of living, have a cold... your funds are quite depleted.

Then February rolls away... and just as sure as Hector... arriveth March and we must pay... the Revenue Collector... then cometh April, with her showers... and everything is wetter... then May, with her frostbitten flowers... and June is not much better.

You try to dope the future out... and everything gets hazy... so let us all go back to work... instead of going crazy.

STEFFAN ANDREWS

A Case of Smart Politics

WASHINGTON—President Truman is playing smart long-term politics in his drive for a country-wide network of power and projects.

Here's what is behind it:

The West and Midwest will gain something like 12 seats in Congress in the prospective reshuffling of population in this year's census.

A total of 14 House seats is expected to shift altogether, but one of these is expected to go to Florida and another to Texas.

With the West gaining most of the seats, a mounting voting sentiment for reclamation and power projects is expected to be felt in future Congresses.

It means, too, that there will be a gradual shift of political strength to Western states in future presidential elections. The politicians know this, and so does Truman.

DONT—Don't cut too many corners or try to dodge tax payments in making out your income tax return this year.

It will be a bad year for it. Here's why:

The prospective $5,000,000,000 Government deficit will mean that tax collectors will be looking through returns extra carefully this year. The experts are convinced billions now go uncollected.

A sample investigation by the Bureau of Internal Revenue indicates that the Treasury can collect an additional $20 for every $1 spent investigating individual returns.

The Treasury staff of revenue collectors and inspectors is now back up to peak strength. The staff will be used to do the kind of probing officials wanted to do, but couldn't, in past years.

GUESS—Don't count too much on that talk of economy and promises of billion-dollar cuts in President Truman's 1951 budget.

There is the usual hue and cry when a budget the size of the $42,400,000,000 whopper is presented. But few lawmakers really take time out to examine it or find out in detail for what they are appropriating money.

At one point in the last congressional session, 30-odd members of an important House committee were asked point-blank if they could tell off-hand just what sum the House had appropriated to date.

Not one member could come within $2,000,000,000 of the correct answer, according to the Hoover Government Reorganization Commission.

JOLT—Dentists all over the country will get a teeth-jarring jolt soon. The Federal Trade Commission is quietly preparing a crackdown on a top dental association. The charge: price-fixing.

STALIN—Premier Stalin has been converted into a mild, milk-drinking fuddy-duddy in his old age.

The 70-year-old Red leader in his younger days was a hard, vodka-drinking revolutionary of the old Bolshevik school. Now, he has a large glass of milk after every meal.

Reason: Doctor's orders. Soviet physicians won't let the aging dictator drink liquor or eat sweets. They watch his diet very strictly.

His breakfast consists of tea and whole-meal bread, his lunch of fish and his dinner borsch and meat, prepared by French-trained chefs.

American intelligence sources report the old man is suffering from asthma and arteriosclerosis—hardening of the arteries.

SAVINGS—Key congressmen are out to trim the red tape from the Veterans' Administration—and incidentally save the taxpayers some money this year.

The House Appropriations Committee is aiming to whack away at the $4 billion-dollar overhead and administrative expenses of the sprawling, oversized veterans' agency.

Top committee members say privately that it's political suicide to attempt to cut veterans' benefits. But they see no reason for the terrific VA overhead and excessive costs of some veterans' hospitals.

The excessive hospital costs, committee members say, arise largely from the fat fees paid to private physicians who supposedly are hired by the VA as "consultants."

WASHINGTON—It's too bad old Andy Jackson won't be around Feb. 18 to watch 5,000 of the Democratic faithful sit down to a meal under one roof and gross $500,000 for the party treasury.

From across the country the Democrats will come here to stream into the capital's Monmouth National Guard Armory to break bread with President Truman, one of Old Hickory's most ardent admirers.

The occasion is the 1950 Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner. At $100 a crack, the guests will throw in $500,000 for the pleasure of attending. Expenses are expected to run about $75,000.

THAT MEANS a neat little net of about $425,000 for Democratic efforts to lick Sen. Robert A. Taft in Ohio and to otherwise run the party's business which, mainly, is to keep Republicans out of power.

Charles Luckman, youthful President of Lever Bros. Company and National Chairman of the big dinner, called reporters in to discuss the party's details. The 40-year-old soap-company executive makes almost as much in a year as the big dinner will net in a night.

Luckman told reporters the big event will be a sellout. Industrial engineers are now going over the Armory's acres of floor space to determine just

New Drug Said Heart Attack Foe

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—A Cornell University medical professor has revealed a new drug that he says may cut down heart attacks and save more than 70,000 lives a year.

The drug, known as tromexan, was developed in Switzerland. Dr. Irving S. Wright, one of the nation's leading researchers in disease of the blood vessels, said the drug seems to be the best medicine yet developed for the prevention of blood clots which annually kill 200,000 Americans and disable many more.

Dr. Wright disclosed the drug before the Pittsburgh Academy of Medicine.

Dr. Wright is professor of clinical medicine at Cornell University Medical College in New York and chairman of the American Heart Association Committee for evaluation of anti-coagulants (blood-clot preventatives).

Tests have indicated tromexan is better than any of the drugs now utilized against coronary thrombosis, Dr. Wright said. The medical researchers said tromexan goes to work within 24 hours. And, he said, it practically stops thinning the blood 24 hours later.

The leading weapon now used against blood clotting, Dr. Wright explained, is dicumarol, a drug made from the same materials as aspirin. Dicumarol thins the blood—but usually doesn't go to work for two to four days.

New Atomic Particle Is Discovered

ROCHESTER—(AP)—The University of Rochester reported yesterday it had photographic plates showing "strong evidence" of a new atomic particle, the neutral meson.

The University said three of its scientists had recorded the evidence on plates carried 19 miles into the air by balloons released near Harrisburg, Pa.

Mesons are the mysterious, short-lived particles that serve as glue for the elements of the atomic nucleus. They are believed closely related to energy from the sun and other atomic energy.

Mesons come flying out in the big collisions between atoms and atomic particles. They live only a few millionths of a second and are very penetrating. The cosmic rays at sea level, that penetrate half a mile or more into the earth, are mesons.

The three scientists who made the study here are Dr. Helmut L. Bratt, visiting professor from Switzerland; Dr. Bernard Peters, assistant professor of physics, and Morton F. Kaplan, graduate student in theoretical physics.

Oriental Rugs Represent Life's Work, Says Importer

By BETSY HOPKINS

In Persia recently, a gnarled old peasant wove the last thread in a rug, and called the townspeople in to see it. They had been waiting for this moment for years, had talked of this rug, and even the newspapers had run stories on it.

The rug was a museum piece. The border looked like fine inlaid work, with its ivory background and details of sapphire blue and coral. The medallion in the center was like a lovely dinner ring, oval-shaped, made of from 50 to 60 colors.

The rug was the peasant's life work. For 20 years he'd worked on it, making 10 cents a day. An artist spent a year working out the design and the color pattern, and the rug-maker had spent three years spinning the yarn by hand, and dyeing the wool.

The rug is valued at $3,000 and is part of the collection of Stephen Philibosian and Russell Walker, which is being shown at a local department store this week. Philibosian, who for many years had a store here, was born in Turkey where he made rugs for a while and learned to appreciate the tremendous artistry and creative power of the rug-maker.

Now an importer of rugs, with offices in Philadelphia and New York, Philibosian has almost a religious fervor for his work and talks about it with a hypnotic charm.

He believes firmly that an Oriental rug can be the basis for an entire decorating scheme, saying that they are in reality comparable to a painting, full of creative pride and years of labor. "No two of them are ever alike," he says, "and thus they make for a completely individual and original decor."

Philibosian believes that an Oriental rug is comparable to an ordinary rug only as the classics are comparable to jazz. An Oriental rug, he explains, represents a lifetime of work and the perfection of an art that has been handed down from generation to generation. Many of these rugs are copied from the mosaics of inlaid jewels found in ancient mosques. All of them are the outpouring of a man's entire creativeness.

GOOD NEIGHBOR ORCHIDS—Dr. J. W. Beeson, 1098 Oakdale Rd., N. E., who is past President of the Theological Seminary at Meridian, Miss., is considered the outstanding layman at St. Paul's Methodist Church. He has sent hundreds of young people to college with his own money, sends reams of religious literature to shut-ins, teaches the Men's Bible Class at this church and is the author of several religious articles. "He lives for others, and his every thought is for the other fellow," says Mrs. Preston Mitchell, 811 Boulevard, S. E., who sends Dr. Beeson her Good Neighbor Orchid. HERE AND THERE—Housewarmings are in order for three Atlantans who did some heavy holiday moving. Mrs. Thomas Bonduant has moved into an apartment at 1355 Peachtree St., while Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Dobbs have taken possession of their new home, 1914 Collard Drive. . . . Mr. and Mrs. William Wendt have returned to New York after spending several weeks at Georgian Terrace Hotel. . . . Mrs. Sue George, 641 Holder St., S. W., is recuperating from a recent operation at Georgia Baptist Hospital. . . . A wild flapper with a frantic father and a taste for flaming youth is a hard part for a sober sociology major to play, but Miss Ann Carol Hogue, 1290 McLendon Ave., N. E., will attempt the part when she stars in Duke University's production, "Roaring Twenties" in March. She has just been selected to play the lead flapper. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Prince Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Bob White, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cooledge, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hastings have returned from Homosassa Fishing Club in Florida with a wealth of fish stories, and some fish to back them up. The pride of the catch were some 8-pound red fish. . . . George Goldman, Emory University student, has been elected President of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity made up of former Boy Scouts. . . . Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johnson, Johnnie Johnson and Mrs. Lillian Thrasher, 4210 Pine Grove Terrace, Brookhaven, have returned from Chicago. . . . Going 400 miles to baby-sit is bad enough, but when the sleet, snow and ice come along to maroon you there, it becomes a major tragedy. Such was the luck of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wolfe, 1159 St. Augustine Place, who traveled to Memphis to keep a sharp eye on their grandchildren while their son and daughter went to Chicago, and are still snowbound on the frozen tundras of Tennessee. . . . Miss Jan Perdue has resumed her studies at the Foxcroft School in Middlebury, Va., after spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes Perdue, on West Pace's Ferry Road. . . . Your Mind's Mirror

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Can you love your wife or husband 24 hours a day?

Answer: Probably not. I have never seen a person who had unmixed feelings, even toward those whom he loved best. One of the first lessons that any two lovers should learn is that there will be times when they will feel actually hostile toward each other, and that this need not mean that their love is unreal. Teach yourself to realize that your angry moods (or your sweetheart's) are just relics of the childish wish to have everything your way, and remember: "Least said, soonest mended." If you don't, you will be sorry later.

Are interviews more revealing than questionnaires?

Answer: Not if what you're trying to find out about is people's love life or their family relationships, reports Dr. Albert Ellis in the American Sociological Review. In a research along these lines, study of responses from 69

Can "wanting to help" make you a nuisance?

Answer: It can even make you a real menace to another person's happiness and freedom. For none of us is quite free from the desire to impose our will and point of view on others, and it's when we honestly believe we are thinking only of what is best for them that we are most prone to do this. A good rule, at least with adults, is never to offer help or advice unless they are asked for. For remember, one problem that your best friend can solve for himself is better for him than a dozen lines, study of responses from 69

NUTRITION RESEARCH

New Facts on Fresh Pears, Frozen Orange Juice, Meats

By AGNES REASOR OLMSTEAD
Constitution Home Economics Editor

Frozen orange juice concentrate has become a food success almost overnight. Recent studies and research has shown that there's a word of warning necessary if the juice is to be served at its peak of tree-ripened goodness. This concentrated juice must be reconstituted correctly. Apparently few of us do it the right way!

When the fresh orange juice is concentrated to triple richness in flavor, the air and water are removed. Therefore, when the concentrate is to be reconstituted into a beverage the proper amount of air and water must be returned.

Nearly everyone now knows that filling the six-ounce concentrate container three times is the right amount of cold water. Many, however, fail to put back the right amount of air. A large number of women merely pour the mixture of concentrate and cold water from pitcher, or jar, to a glass. Others just gently stir the reconstituted juice.

In neither method is sufficient air returned to the juice. The best way is through vigorous agitation. Manufacturers recommend shaking the reconstituted juice vigorously whether in a shaker, tightly-covered jar, or milk bottle. Also, if the brisk shaking is carried on for 15 or 20 seconds, the air really is returned and brings out the orange's delightful flavor.

Fresh pears are in good supply now and fruits are an important item in our daily diet.

Pears contain approximately 12 percent sugar and are a quick energy food. Too few mothers realize the extent of the need of their children for quick energy in the form of between meal snacks. Pears fit in here perfectly for they are low in caloric count yet give the energy needed to carry the active child through the next meal.

Of the sugar contained in pears, 95 percent of that sugar is levulose. This provides not only quick energy, but longer lasting energy in the conversion by the body of this form of sugar to glucose.

The relationship between good balanced meals and good health highlights the nutritional importance of meat, man's favorite protein food.

Not only does meat taste good, but more important, it is good for you. Research in the field of nutrition has proved that complete protein—the kind that meat has in abundance—helps build resistance to disease and infection, speeds recovery of the sick and injured, promotes the health of expectant mothers, aids in the growth and development of husky children, and is needed to keep you in tiptop condition.

No matter who you are, and whether your pocketbook calls for economy or permits you to satisfy the urge for the fanciest cuts, meat gives you full value for your money.

Your Stars Today

WHAT TO EXPECT TODAY
Sun in Capricorn

General Tendencies—This is one of those days when things go along without too much excitement or opportunity for change unless some one person makes some special effort to stir up activity—even then, not getting full results. It's best to use this time for details of daily work, looking back over past duties and bringing up the loose ends into the web again. The moon is now in the sign Scorpio, and this is never a very constructive influence in private or public interests; it is apt to bring about conflicts, slander or grievances unless controlled.

If It's Your Birthday—Wait until the late Spring days before trying to push your ideas about finances or entering alliances which call for the use of much money. There is a time here for speculation but not in the next few weeks. Your returns will be better after the Summer has gone by, but you can get ready for this good fortune during May and June. Probably you will not find too many opportunities in August; this all seems to hinge upon the amount of your cash investment, whether the subject be business or an intimately personal affair.

The Sewing Circle

By CLYDE RAPP INGRAM

I am sure you were pleased with your first fitting. It is always such a thrill to put the garment on the first time, to see how it looks, after you have done so much preliminary work.

Takes the garment carefully and lay it on the table, don't shake out your pins. With a basting thread mark the alterations. If it was a little long waist run a little thread mark just where your pins were, before you remove any pins. If it

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Don't live in fear of this happening. You just spring a little FASTTEETH, the alkaline non-toxic powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks plate color (improve breath). Get FASTTEETH at any drug store.

JESSIE'S Notebook

by JESSIE DE BOW

Bake 'Em Over Bacon! Make that good old breakfast of griddle cakes and bacon with a new twist. Cook half slices of bacon till half done. Allow one piece per pancake; pour pancakes batter over bacon pieces on the griddle; bake and turn as usual. Eat as usual, only more so! With molasses and piping hot coffee or cocoa, here's a morning meal that stays with you. Right up to your lunch-hour now. For today's budget stretchers and easy flavor-packets!

LADY BE GOOD—TO YOURSELF!

PLAN A COOK-EASY MEAL on heavy laundering or cleaning days. With Kraft Dinner you can make delicious Macaroni-and-Cheese while you set the table. You know how I set store by flavor plus convenience. Kraft Dinner has both. It's very special macaroni that cooks up fluffy and tender in just 7 minutes flat. Good Kraft Grated, in the same package, is ready to add in a flash. Makes a grand money-saving meal—and it's a versatile combiner with other foods. Try Kraft Dinner tonight. For easy preparation and good-eating it's high on my list. SEE HOW SIMPLE:

1. Slowly add macaroni to 3 pints of boiling salted water (2 teaspoons salt). Stir, and allow water to return to a vigorous boil.
2. Stir, and allow water to return to a vigorous boil.
3. Add 3 tablespoons of bacon drippings, butter or margarine and 1/4 cup milk to the hot, drained macaroni. Mix lightly with fork.
4. Sprinkle the envelope of Kraft Grated over the macaroni and mix again. Season to taste.

Mealtime Comes So Fast

When you're enjoying a drop-in visit from the folks who are "just driving through," plan for such times with Hormel Chili Con Carne, as easy and appetizing as your guests as when you heat it up for easy family suppers. Hormel knows a thing or two about good food (to put it mildly) and this mainstay dish, packed in thrifty one-pound cans, is Chili Con Carne at its light and flavorful best. The Mexican recipe for Chili Con Carne is pretty hard for most of us to take, but Hormel blends it just right, not too hot—in the tempering side of tangy. Come up with a crisp green salad and a cool fruity dessert—and you're all set!

BABY'S BATH TIME PROTECTOR

That's you, or course, Mother. Which means you'll have everything from pins to powder ready before hand. It's never safe to leave a tiny tot alone—in or on top of the bathtub—for even a minute.

When it comes to protection at mealtimes, guard against the shocks of those first spoon-feedings by starting Baby on Gerber's Cereals. So smooth, so pleasant to taste! Gerber's Cereal Food, Strained Oatmeal and Barley Cereal are specially prepared by people who make baby foods and not anything else. That's why Gerber's are really experts at bringing your baby Cereals, Fruits, Vegetables, Meats and Desserts that he and the doctor will approve.

3 Minute Party Cake mixed in one bowl—in 3 easy-do steps. Here's the new method from the bakers of Arm & Hammer and Cow Brand Baking Soda: beat sugar and eggs together first for a better blended batter. And with soda to tenderize your cake will be light, tender, feathery and moist—fresher keeping!

3 MINUTE PARTY CAKE
A basic recipe. Very frosting and decorations to suit the occasion.

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 1/2 cups Arm & Hammer or Cow Brand Baking Soda
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup oil
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup vanilla
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup nuts
1/2 cup fruit
1/2 cup chocolate chips
1/2 cup nuts
1/2 cup fruit
1/2 cup chocolate chips

Have all ingredients at room temperature. Sift flour, baking soda and salt together. Combine vinegar, milk and fruit extracts. Beat egg whites and sugar together for six minutes. Add flour mixture, shortening, and one-half of the fruit. Stir until flour is completely mixed. Add remaining ingredients. Turn into two well-greased 8-inch square pans. Bake 15-20 minutes at 350°. Moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes.

them up, if you had to change them, lay them flat on table, with right sides together and correct. If you had a little too much fullness on top, you may have to trim off a little of the sleeve—about 1/4 or 1/2 inch, that is, if you want it to be smooth and flat.

Take your skirt and fold wrong side out, lay flat on table with center front and center back together, that will give your side seams together. Now take your yard stick and lay on your basting where you had to correct your seam and chalk a straight line; it is hard to pin or baste a straight line and if you don't use a ruler or yard stick to give you a guide for stitching you get a wavy seam, which makes your skirt look "homemade."

Don't bring the straight line on up over the hip but start about eight inches from the top and curve slightly for the hip bone. After you have carefully gone over your correction and are sure you have let out or taken in all you need you are ready to go the machine.

Check your machine. Be sure to put a drop of oil in necessary places the night before you are going to sew. A drop is all that is necessary, for if your flood your machine you will get into all kinds of trouble and ruin your garment. It will take it days to work out. Take a small scrap of garment you are going to work on and stitch a line of stitching to see if it is the stitch you want; a nice smooth, even stitch, not too loose or too tight. If it is loose or big the seam will look like Kitchen Bouquet to you. If it is too tight, the first time you put any strain on it, it will pop and your seam will rip open. Now this sounds silly to go into all this, but one is so anxious to get the garment actually sewed up that she sits right down to the machine and starts to sew, then she says, "What in the world is the matter with this seam?" and there you have to go back and do all this anyway. Nothing is so discouraging as to have to go back and do over.

Now, with that machine all ready start to stitch. Take the waist and stitch, just inside, if you want a tight fit, or just outside if you want a loose (or easy) fit—of the basting, remove basting and press nicely—then stitch a row of loose stitches around the waist line and at the neck line to keep the neck from stretching.

Next, take the sleeves and stitch them up, put two rows of stitching on the top cap between the darts and pull them up to the desired size and regulate the gathers. Put the cap on the edge of your pressing iron and lay a damp cloth over it and steam the gathers before you put the sleeve into the armhole—you cannot steam and press a sleeve gathering as well after it is sewed in the armhole. Then pin sleeve notches to armhole notches, under arm seams together and then fit into armhole pinning well—then baste on seam marking, if you want a little ease across shoulder blades in back make seams a little smaller just in that place.

Now stitch skirt seams right on straight chalk marks, press seams open, turn down skirt one-half inch at top and baste. Now go back to waist and cut a piece of seam binding just the size of your waist measure, as tight or loose as you want and baste on bottom of waist about one inch from bottom—then baste skirt on waist over this tape.

You are now ready to baste on collar. Fit the collar now and if sleeves are set right and waistline is comfortable, you can stitch and baste zipper in well, then stitch and press. You are now ready to take hemline the very last thing—after all stitching and pressing is done. Next week we will go into the finish and type of buttonholes you can use. Be sure in stitching the darts to leave a thread long enough to tie a knot at the end of the dart. Pull threads through underside when sewing in zipper tie and cut.

But Now I Eat What I Like, Thanks To Tums
It's hard to pass up favorite foods, even though you know acid indigestion, gas and heartburn may result. But you can do as millions do. They just carry a roll of Tums in their pocket or purse. Eat 1 or 2 like candy, and presto, there's quick, soothing relief. Tums are different. No mixing, no stirring, no waiting. Take anywhere. Get a roll of Tums today—always fast relief for acid indigestion.

For Bright Morning Smiles
Give the family the cereal they like best. The folks I know are pretty sure to call for "Cream of Wheat." Try this:

Just cook smooth, delicious "Cream of Wheat" in a cupful or two of coconut milk or water as needed.

This famous cereal has become almost another name for breakfast. And no wonder—Wheat is deliciously smooth and full of satisfying nourishment. Economical, too. Do you know it costs only a penny a serving? And Enriched 3 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is a morning timesaver. Takes only 5 minutes of boiling to cook to full digestibility and provides you with Iron, Calcium, Phosphorus and Vitamin B.

cottons and linens snowy-white and color-bright without hard rubbing. I always say, the way Clorox conserves fabrics by reducing rubbing is one way to beat the cost of living. Clorox is ideal for baby linens and bedding, too. It's free from caustic—so Clorox does an extra-gentle job. It also removes stains, deodorizes, and makes laundry sanitary.

And—the disinfecting action that gives you an hygienically clean wash makes Clorox a health safeguard in routine cleaning. Sink and drainboard often harbor germs that ordinary tiding up cannot kill. But Clorox disinfects, and makes tile and porcelain sparkling, clean-smelling and sanitary. That's an added health security for every member of the family.

3 Minute Party Cake mixed in one bowl—in 3 easy-do steps. Here's the new method from the bakers of Arm & Hammer and Cow Brand Baking Soda: beat sugar and eggs together first for a better blended batter. And with soda to tenderize your cake will be light, tender, feathery and moist—fresher keeping!

3 MINUTE PARTY CAKE
A basic recipe. Very frosting and decorations to suit the occasion.

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 1/2 cups Arm & Hammer or Cow Brand Baking Soda
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup oil
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup vanilla
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup nuts
1/2 cup fruit
1/2 cup chocolate chips
1/2 cup nuts
1/2 cup fruit
1/2 cup chocolate chips

Have all ingredients at room temperature. Sift flour, baking soda and salt together. Combine vinegar, milk and fruit extracts. Beat egg whites and sugar together for six minutes. Add flour mixture, shortening, and one-half of the fruit. Stir until flour is completely mixed. Add remaining ingredients. Turn into two well-greased 8-inch square pans. Bake 15-20 minutes at 350°. Moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes.

Rita Hayworth plans to leave her Swiss hospital in a few days, her friends say. The movie star still was reported not feeling "altogether well." Prince Aly, her husband, is in Paris on business. . . . Swedish King Gustav, 91, was kept yesterday from opening the Riksdag (Parliament) by "reasons of health." . . . Turney Gratz, 47, executive of the RFC, has been appointed Executive Assistant Chairman of the Democratic National Committee. . . . The Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals has refused to review the conviction of 16-year-old Lee (Buddy) Scott, serving 99 years for the parish house murder of Dana Marie Weaver in Roanoke, Va., last May.

Ronald Unsworth Stocks had himself a system from breaking the drab routine of England's Dartmoor prison. "By swallowing forks, spoons and needles he managed six trips to hospital for operations since 1946. He died from shock after the sixth. Coroner's verdict: "Death by Misadventure."

A Little Cowboy
Western Star Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, his screen and life partner, have announced they will become parents again "next Summer." . . . Radio Singer Kay St. Germain says she will seek to divorce Screen Comedian Jack Carson for the second time. Her first try was tossed out because of lack of grounds. . . . Sven Graftstrom, Sweden's delegate to the UN, says his country can put 12 divisions of 700,000 men in the field if necessary. . . . Mrs. Harriet Shearman, a school teacher, has the first ticket to North Carolina's Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner. She bought it with $50 she had "left over from Christmas." . . . W. E. Lindsay, of Chapel Hill, N. C., is 82 and bought his first auto in 1908. They got him the other way his driving without a license. He sheepishly admitted he "never did have one of those things."

Now It's Ike
Capt. John Crommelin, arch Navy foe of "Army dictation," has extended his list of potential Navy foes to include Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. . . . Plump Maharajah of Baroda, once one of the world's richest men, soon won't have even one little airplane. He's been told he has as well as his properties in England, etc. He's worried about having to fork over with a big income tax payment. . . . Philip Jessup, U. S. Ambassador at Large, has arrived in Korea from Tokyo for conferences with American and South Korean government officials. . . . Plaintiff Jerry Velasco, of New York, probably never will play "Libertine" again. He says a dance hall patron threatened him with a knife and forced him to play the piece over and over for too long recently.

Alfred McMath, of Seattle, died due to a chain reaction, for sure. He was insulating water pipes under his house when several miles away heavy winds blew a tree over, breaking a power line. The break caused another line to become over loaded and it short-ed across a telephone line. The current raced down McMath's telephone line, grounded to gas and water pipes under the house. The sudden charge blew up McMath's furnace, wrecking the rear end of the house. McMath, startled, raised up suddenly and struck his head on the rafters. He died of a broken neck.

1,000 Feet—Suddenly
Former President Herbert Hoover says the Federal budget for fiscal 1951 is the greatest advance made in budgeting procedures in 30 years. . . . Army Parachutist John Rialer, of Canada, was reported in fair condition last night after falling 1,000 feet to the ground when his chute failed to open fully during a practice jump. . . . Prime Minister Attlee took a blast from English churchmen yesterday for calling the general election for the day after Ash Wednesday. . . . A "mysterious rumor" that Shirley Temple and Charles W. Mapes, Jr., Reno, Nev., hotelman, are romancing has Shirley "pretty mad." She doesn't like things like that to be said about her, she says. . . . William Frits, of Chicago, has been arrested on a charge of drilling peepholes in apartment doors along his route so he could peep at his customers, preferably the ladies while dressing.

Lakewood Heights School

Construction of the Lakewood Heights High School is planned to start March 1, following receipt of the architects' drawings and specifications expected before Feb. 15. The school will be a $500,000 project and, together with the new Southwest Fulton High School will care for the former enrollment at Fulton High School. Supt. Paul West said the start of the project had to be delayed pending the recent sale of the Fulton High School. The Lakewood Heights School will be located one mile southeast of the Lakewood business section at Jonesboro, Browns Mill and Harper Roads.

1,192 Coroner's Cases

County Coroner Ed L. Almand reports that his office during 1949 handled a total of 1,192 cases. Of this number 289 were inquests and 894 were investigations. Death by natural causes was found in 328 cases; by homicide in 120; suicide, 34; accidents, 104; traffic, 83, and 14 undetermined. Almand says the figures do not necessarily relate exclusively to Fulton County inasmuch as Coroner's investigations or inquests can be made on persons injured or wounded elsewhere but dying in Fulton County.

Oattis Ruling Expected

Superior Court Judge Claude Shaw said he will rule at 10 a. m. today on an Atlanta couple's plea that their $45,500 damage suit against West View Cemetery and Asa G. Candler, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oattis, the plaintiffs, asked that the case be moved up on the calendar because of their advancing age. Defense Attorney James A. Branch argued that it would be a violation of the court's own rules to bring a case to trial before it had reached the active list. Judge Shaw took the matter under advisement yesterday.

Chaplain To Speak

The Rev. Bill Allison, County Chaplain, will speak to Milton High School at 8 p. m. today. His talk will be based on the Chaplain's work in Fulton County institutions.

Contempt Charge

U. S. Income Tax Collector Marion H. Allen has brought contempt proceedings against W. A. McLeary, of 159 Moreland Ave. N. E., for alleged failure to answer a July 23 summons. U. S. Commissioner Frank A. Holden yesterday postponed a hearing in order to give McLeary time to appear before Allen and produce tax records sought by the Collector.

GEORGIA NOVELIST FETED

Reece First a Farmer. He Says, Then a Writer

By SAM LUCHESE

Byron Herbert Reece took four months to write his novel, "Better a Dinner of Herbs," but those four months were spread out over a year and a half, because, he explained, "I had to make two crops during that time."

"I am a farmer. I like to farm and since I like to eat, I don't let my writing interfere with my farm work," the author said. He does his writing when bad weather interferes with his farm duties, at received it.

The Georgia author taught school for two years after finishing at a luncheon yesterday and later college "and that was all I could review his own book in the take of that," he says. IN FLOYD CASE

Mule, Wagon Act

ROME—(AP)—A mule and wagon may play an important role in a courtroom drama in Floyd Superior Court after an indictment was returned by the Grand Jury against Bill Barton, charged with grand larceny.

Barton was indicted for allegedly "taking one bay mare and a one-horse wagon for the purpose of stealing the same." The offense was committed on April 20, 1948, according to Alec Kiser, owner, who valued the animal and wagon at $135.

Rossellini Asks Divorce Okay

TURIN, Italy—(UP)—Italian Film Director Roberto Rossellini will be a step nearer his marriage to actress Ingrid Bergman tomorrow when he asks the court of appeals to recognize his Austrian divorce.

Rossellini plans to wed Miss Bergman as soon as her divorce from her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, comes through. Attorneys for Lindstrom and Miss Bergman are now working out a divorce arrangement in the United States.

In Hollywood, Gregson Bautzer, Miss Bergman's attorney, said that he expected a divorce settlement to be reached this week.

Rossellini was divorced from his wife, Marcelia de Marchis, in Vienna in 1942. But the divorce has not been legally recognized in Italy.

'Frozen' Inmate Held in Columbus

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Walter Lee Denson, 17-year-old Negro who was the focal point of a year ago of an investigation of conditions at the Rome Juvenile Training School, has been arrested by Columbus police in connection with a burglary.

Det. Chief H. T. Whitley said Denson, a 19-year-old brother, Emmett, and four other Negroes are being held responsible for 22 of 30 recent burglaries here. He said formal charges will be filed soon.

The younger Denson suffered a foot infection resulting in amputation of parts of both feet while serving at the Rome school. Atty. Theo J. McGee, representing Denson's mother, claimed the boy's feet were frozen while he was in solitary confinement.

J. T. May, Superintendent of the school, said Denson had tightened cords around his feet to make them swell, a practice he said was used by inmates to shirk work, and that gangrene developed.

Atlanta Palsy Plans To Be Aired Sunday

Plans for forming an Atlanta Area Chapter of the Cerebral Palsy Society of Georgia will be discussed at a public meeting of the Society at 2 p. m. Sunday at St. Mark Methodist Church.

Officials of the Society said State meetings would be held on a quarterly basis and local meetings would be held monthly after the Atlanta chapter is established. Local chapters already are functioning at Augusta and Thomasville.

Heretofore, the Georgia Society has held monthly meetings in Atlanta.

A sound and technicolor film, "Pioneering for America's Children," will be shown at the meeting Sunday. The film illustrates various types of treatment now carried on at the Cerebral Palsy Clinic of the Buffalo Children's Hospital.

DECATUR INSTALLS NEW SIGNALS

TO BETTER FINE '49 TRAFFIC RECORD

Decatur, with no traffic fatalities on its public streets in 1949, is striving to build a still more orderly flow of traffic, Chief of Police Luther Spinks says.

A new automatic signal system has been installed on Court Square. Despite heavier traffic, Spinks said, "the cars keep on a continuous move around the square."

New blinker warning lights have been placed along the mainline railroad, he said, to provide better regulation there. "Traffic increased in large numbers during the last year," Chief Spinks said, "but with more work and the new signals, I think we've got it better regulated. Cars will be able to make better time this year, and it'll be safer."

Mrs. Dickerson Dies; Pioneer Cobb Resident

By PAUL THOMPSON

MARIETTA—An 88-year-old Cobb County woman who came here in a covered wagon at the age of two, died early yesterday.

She was Mrs. Susan Dobbins Dickerson, of Route 3, Marietta, one of the oldest residents of Mount Bethel community.

Born in North Carolina in 1864, she arrived in Cobb County two years later in a prairie schooner caravan that numbered 52 people and 72 head of cattle. According to her tales of early pioneer life, the trip was made over rough terrain under the hardest circumstances.

Since there were no bridges, every river crossing was made by ford or ferry.

The family settled in Mount Bethel community and she remained there until her death. She was a member of the Chattanooga Baptist Church for 50 years.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow at the Chattanooga Baptist Church. The Rev. L. C. Boone will officiate. Burial will be in the Mt. Bethel Cemetery.

Surviving are three sons, O. B. Dickerson, Ed Dickerson and John Drury Dickerson, all of Mt. Bethel; and a sister, Mrs. Ella Bowles, also of Mt. Bethel.

4 Licensed As Methodist Preachers

By THOMAS M. ELLIOTT

Four new applicants today hold licenses to preach from the Atlanta West District Methodist Conference.

The licenses, granted at Mid-year District Conference, went to Emmette Ira Bedell and Wesley Lorenzo Thomas, both of the Holy Springs charge; Cecil Weldon Page, of the Marietta Street Stephen Church, and Thomas Richard Eddies, of the Atlanta Grove Park Church. Recommended for admission on trial were Clarence Everett Spier, of Holy Springs Church, and William Harvey Littleton, of the Atlanta St. Mark Church.

Mrs. Joe Patton, Director of Women's Work in the Atlanta West District, told conferees at Atlanta of three new auxiliaries organized this year, bringing the total membership to 3,822. Payments on the $24,000 pledge for the year now amount to nearly $10,000, Mrs. Patton added.

Dist. Supt. Lester Rumble to-night at the Marietta First Methodist Church will lead all Methodist Church School workers west of the Chattahoochee River in the organization of a Workers' Institute, with quarterly meetings to be held for consultation, study and training. A similar institute has been organized for workers east of the river with 325 workers.

Charles Robeson, of the Peachtree Road Church, is to be general superintendent of the two institutes.

A double quartet composed of ministerial singers and organized by Dist. Supt. Rumble was formally presented at the Canton session of the District Conference yesterday.

Reports at the session for work sponsored by laymen showed:

Church accessions on profession of faith, 254; accessions by certificate and from other churches, 1,104; paid on world service, $11,634; fourth Sunday Bible school offerings, $2,659; paid to date on retired minister endowment fund, $12,154; pledged for support of missionary specials, $11,015.

Lovejoy Warns On Federal Aid

ATHENS—(AP)—Hatten Lovejoy, LaGrange attorney and former University of Georgia football star, warned Athens Rotarians against the danger of more federal aid.

He said the people of the U. S. were "buying themselves" through federal aid—with their own money."

Woman Is Killed By Truck

An elderly woman was killed and two other persons were injured yesterday near Toccoa as a truck driver made a valiant effort to avoid striking a pedestrian, the State Patrol said.

Mrs. Rosa Carter, 73, of Route 1, Toccoa, the pedestrian, was killed instantly. Sgt. H. C. Angstrom, Trooper D. W. Gilbert reported.

Herschel M. Norton, of Ayersville, occupant of an auto struck head-on by the truck as the driver sought to avoid striking Mrs. Carter, was admitted to the Stephens County Hospital in a critical condition with head injuries. Wade Hicks, of Route 1, Toccoa, was injured slightly.

Mrs. Carter was attempting to cross U. S. Highway 23 near Toccoa when the big tractor-trailer truck, driven by James C. Robinson, of Charlotte, N. C., swerved sharply in a vain attempt to avoid hitting the woman.

The truck collided with the auto occupied by Norton and Hicks, officers said, while the trailer struck Mrs. Carter.

Rev. Maier Succumbs

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The Rev. Walter A. Maier, who had a worldwide audience for his weekly Lutheran hour radio broadcasts, died yesterday of heart disease at his home.

His broadcasts, translated into 36 foreign languages, went out over a network of about 1,200 radio stations.

Walter Woodall, Veteran Editor, Dies in Columbus

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Walter J. Woodall, 78, long-time Southern newspaperman, died at his home here yesterday after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held here today.

A veteran of more than a half century in the newspaper field, he entered it in 1891 as a reporter on the Columbus Ledger of which he subsequently became Editor.

Mr. Woodall resigned from the editorship to become State Assistant School Commissioner. After serving in this position for several years, he re-entered the newspaper field as Editor of the Columbus Evening Sun.

His newspaper experience also included editorship of the Jackson, Tenn., Whig and connections with the Savannah Morning News and several others.

In 1908, with his brother, W. C. Woodall, he established the Industrial Union weekly industrial and construction magazine published here. He also was publisher of the Southeast Livestock Journal.

Surviving are his wife, a brother, and a sister, Mrs. Madison G. Nicholson, of Athens.

Savannah Beach General Dies

DENVER—(AP)—Brig. Gen. D. G. Richart, 62, of Savannah Beach, Ga., died here yesterday at the Denver Hospital where he had been under treatment since Nov. 30.

A graduate of West Point in 1910, Gen. Richart had had wide Army experience both in the United States and overseas. During the last several years he was commanding officer at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and later at Fort Andrew Jackson, Columbia, S. C.

At one time during his Army career, Gen. Richart was an instructor of Pres. Truman, who was then a member of the organization of Army Reserve Officers.

The General was retired from active duty in 1943 because of physical disability.

With him at the time of death was a brother, Granville Richart, of Kansas City, Mo. The widow, Mrs. Harry McCluskey Richart, left Macon, Ga., by plane for Denver.

Funeral arrangements were not completed pending her arrival.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our darling wife, mother and sister, Mrs. Mary Knight, who left us four years ago today, Jan. 12, 1946.

Four years have passed since that sad day when we loved was called away. God took her home; it was his will, and she is at rest. We miss her, but we are comforted by the thought that she is at rest.

Sadly missed by
J. E. KNIGHT, Husband.
HENRY R. AND G. HARPER, Children.
ANNIE RILEY, Sister.

Annamary Dickey Takes Lead in Sauer Show

By RITA VAN PELT

Lovely Annamary Dickey—January's gift to the WCON-ABC Sauer Show—takes the lead in a medley of show tunes from the Broadway hit, "Allegro," when the popular musical-variety program comes to the air at 8 tonight.

Miss Dickey, who sang the "Allegro" role during 487 straight shows in New York and throughout a four-and-a-half month national tour without missing a performance, will sing tonight the show's top romantic song, "You're Never Away." She will join Roy Caudle for "A Fella Needs a Girl." Ruth Clayton will be heard in the show's comedy number, "The Gentleman Is a Dope." Wilson Angie will sing "So Far."

Newsstand Preview

There's an article in this week's Saturday Evening Post by Hodding Carter, famous Southern writer, called "Just Leave Us Alone" in which the eminent Southerner pleads with the "No'theners" to leave Dixie to its own devices. Charlotte Bronson will brief this and other interesting articles from current magazines when she brings her Newsstand Preview to the air via WCON this afternoon at 3.

Lombardo Guests

Musician-Sportsman Guy Lombardo will appear as tonight's guest panelist on the WGST-MBS Fishing and Hunting Club of the Air at 8:30.

Hollywood Theater

Michael Redgrave, English star whose motion picture work has endeared him to thousands of fans in this country, will star in a radio adaptation of Nathaniel Hawthorne's creepy story, "Rappaccini's Daughter"—a Skippy Hollywood Theater production slated for WAGA-CBS at 10:30 p. m.

Date With Judy

Mother goes to a lecture on how to rear youngsters and suddenly all her self-confidence and composure melt away. Convinced that she and father have reared the kids for a life of crime, to say the least, Mrs. Foster's new outlook leads to complications plus leading the hilarious Date With Judy program on WCON-ABC at 8:30 this p. m.

Tavern a La Swanson

Swanson swooners please note: A touch of glamour in the shape of a form of Gloria Swanson will embellish the WBSN-ABC Duffy's Tavern program this night at 8:30.

For Conservation Start on Watershed

THURSDAY, JAN. 12, 1950

Suggestion of the day: Now is the time to turn in our report on soil conservation practices to the local office of the Production and Marketing Administration. The final date is Jan. 15.

YELLOW RIVER SECTION STIRRING

It begins to look as if new life will be pumped into the Yellow River watershed movement. The movement, designed to improve life on the Yellow River watershed, has been lying dormant for some time, due principally to the fact that the war and postwar conditions kept everyone busy at other things.

Now that our old buddy, C. L. Veatch, of the Soil Conservation Service, has been assigned to help us out we have no doubt the movement will take on new life. We had begun to believe we were being given the run-around. There were many promises but no action.

The "watershed" approach to the problem of soil conservation is a logical one, and my guess is the present soil conservation districts will be rearranged on a watershed basis when the advantages become evident.

Soil conservation consists in causing the water to walk. This is number one. And water is always heading for some particular stream and the stream is filling up with silt to the extent of the amounts of soil carried off the watershed. The entire watershed is bound up together regardless of other factors. The stream behaves in accordance with the treatment it gets from its watershed.

People living on a particular watershed are automatically drawn into this situation and environment whether they want it or whether they know it. There is no escape.

Thus counties often are divided into one or more watersheds and the watershed and not the county is the logical unit of operation of a conservation effort.

When one accepts the watershed point of view the necessary conservation steps become clear at once. You tackle the tributary watershed, the smaller ones that feed into the bigger one. You fasten down the little stream, then the creek, and finally the river.

We are delighted to have another Veatch with us. Marvin Allison, Jess Baggett, Bill Dean, Dinty Moore, Coy Elliott, Sam Rawlins, A. M. Moon and yours truly (the directors) will be glad to learn that life is to take on new life on the Yellow River. So will our 2,400 landowners who have much at stake.

Let's go!

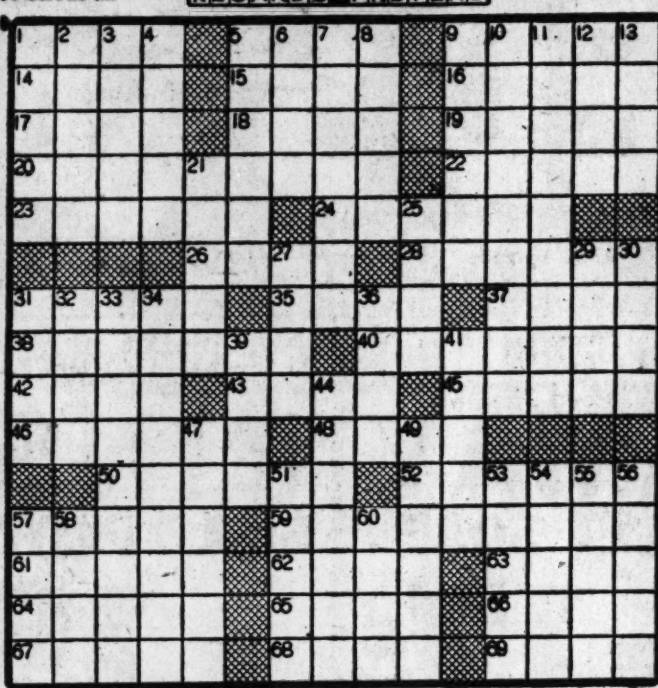

Join the Yellow River Farm family at 6 a. m. and 12:45 p. m. over WCON Monday through Friday. WMAZ in Macon and WGGA in Gainesville join us at 6:15 a. m. WFOH in Marietta joins us at 12:45 p. m.

Sincerely,

Channing Cope

common with Jane Ace of the radio. Some time ago, she went in, somewhat strenuously, for the popular game of contract, and despite the exhortation of her teacher, she refused to take finesse, because, as she said, "they make me so nervous."

South became declarer at a contract of four hearts on a very delicate bidding. The three heart bid is sound, though many players would barge thoughtlessly into game upon receiving the raise. It must be borne in mind that North might have had a little less and still have made a "courageous" raise. The bid of three hearts is calculated to test out this situation. North having a perfectly sound raise to two hearts naturally went on to game. In point of fact, North's hand was a shade too good for a mere single raise, and most players would have preferred to make a temporaryizing call in a new suit, intending to raise hearts on the next round.

Declarer's technique had not been sound. The desire for a possible overtrick should have been subordinated to the more important consideration of obtaining complete safety for the contract.

The jack of diamonds was opened and won with the queen. Holding nine trumps declarer played for the drop of the queen and succeeded. The club finesse was tried and when this failed declarer was faced with the problem of losing only two spade tricks. In the hope that West held the 10 of spades, the nine was finessed in dummy and when this lost the contract went on the rocks. "That was hard luck, partner. I lost two finesses. Had they both worked I would have made an over trick."

With a holding such as the spade suit contained, an effort should be made to compel the opposition to lead that suit, in which case one trick must be won regardless of the distribution.

After trumps are out, the diamonds should be cashed and the small club discarded from dummy. Now the ace of clubs is cashed and the queen led. It matters not who wins the tricks, for that opponent will be compelled to lead a spade. If a diamond or a club is returned it will be ruffed in dummy and the small spade discarded from the closed hand.

PTA Classes To Begin Friday

Mrs. T. E. Clay, study group chairman for Brown High PTA, announces the first class in sewing lessons begins tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. in Room 205 of Brown High School.

Miss Evelyn McElroy, teacher in the home economics department of Brown High, will be the instructor. The first lesson will be on pattern cutting and tailor making. Classes are not limited to PTA members.

Emory's 113th Birthday To Be Observed Monday

More than 1,000 Emory alumni, wives and parents of students in the Atlanta area are expected to take part in the cutting of the university's 113th birthday cake at a celebration on the Emory campus Monday, Dr. Irwin T. Hyatt, President of the Atlanta Emory Club, announced last night.

Emory Pres. Goodrich C. White will wield the knife on the multi-candied cake at the President's table and each guest will have a miniature cake at his plate. The birthday party will start at 7 p. m. in new Emory Field House, the first such dinner to be held there.

A brief address by Dr. White will be the only talk of the evening, Dr. Hyatt said. The remainder of the program will be given over to entertainment. The Emory Glee Club, with Concert Singer Edward A. Kane, 1928 alumnus, as featured soloist, is billed, along with a mock-up radio quiz in which several ghosts of famed Emory folk will take the stage. The Glee Club, under direction of Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey, will revive some of the spirituals which gained fame for them as "The South's Sweetest Singers."

White House Scribe Nixon On Press Institute Program

ATHENS—Robert G. Nixon, President of the White House Correspondents' Association, has been added to the list of outstanding journalists who will speak at the twenty-second Georgia Press Institute on the University of Georgia campus Feb. 22-25.

The announcement is made by Jere N. Moore, editor of the Milledgeville Union-Recorder, Institute Chairman, and Dean John E. Dewey, Henry W. Gray School of Journalism.

Nixon, a member of the International News Service Washington staff, will appear at the Institute as the guest of the Augusta Chronicle.

The Institute is held annually on the University campus under the sponsorship of the Georgia Press Association and the Grady School. Complete program plans are now being made by the Institute committee, and other speakers will be announced later.

Nixon, who has been covering the Presidents for 14 years, started his newspaper career during college days when he gave up a course in chemical engineering at Georgia Tech for a job in a newspaper shop.

Before joining INS in 1931 his career had led him through the Atlanta Georgian-American, Greengboro Record, St. Petersburg Times, the St. Petersburg Daily News.

When the war broke out in Europe Nixon changed his job from White House reporter to war correspondent. He was connected

New Building Is Dedicated In Hapeville

A new $35,000 building housing two new businesses on Central Ave. in Hapeville was dedicated yesterday as Mayor Rex Reed hailed its addition to the community.

Built by Mrs. L. B. Hall, who also spoke at the ceremonies, the building will house her beauty shop and a cleaning plant, both of which she will operate. Employing ten persons, the two businesses will have a weekly payroll of approximately $2,500, Mrs. Hall said.

Civil Service Job Applications Open

Applications for Federal posts of Junior Scientist and Junior Engineer will be received through Jan. 19 by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, officials announced here. Entrance salaries are $3,100 and $3,825 per year. Jobs are open in Federal agencies in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and Tennessee. Information and application forms may be obtained from the Fifth U. S. Civil Service Regional Office, New Post Office Building, Atlanta 3.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing! Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit... with Carter's Pills... and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit. Get Carter's Pills at your drug store for 35¢ today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.
